A Few Reasons Why Lacombe Leads in the Race to Prosperity

It has been said of Canada that there are certain marked spots on the map that are intended for cities. Lacombe is one of those marked spots; a glance at the map is the proof. What Toronto is to the East, Winnipeg to the West, Calgary to Alberta, Lacombe must be to this section of the province. True, it probably will never reach the size of the aforesaid places, nevertheless it is destined to become one of the most important towns in the province of Alberta.

Lacombe's nearest large competitors for population are Calgary, 112 miles north, and Edmonton, 80 miles north. Lacombe must grow. Lacombe is the terminal point for the C.P.R. branch to Castor, that will ultimately be extended east to Moose Jaw.

C.N.R. is rushing its lines towards Lacombe, giving us better service to the north and south, and opening new territory to the east and west, making more secure our position as a railroad and distributing centre, and bringing to the doors of our citizens the coal deposits of the wonderful Brazeau mines, the most extensive in the world.

The fertile valley of the Blindman River, that extends northwest from Lacombe, is destined to soon be served by a railway, which will make Lacombe the seat of its operation. Preliminary surveys have been made and sufficient capital for the construction is practically assured. This road will give us easy access to the beautiful Gull Lake, besides connecting with the flourishing towns of Bentley and Rimbey.

If Lacombe had nothing but agricultural resources of the country tributary to depend upon, her growth would be assured for years to come. The Lacombe district with its wide variety of products, is without question the most prosperous section of the province. Our farms, banking houses, our educational system, churches and social organizations, our well kept streets and beautiful homes all combine to give our town a thrifty appearance, and serve to emphasize the enterprise of our citizens.

It is true that nature has been kind to this community, yet due credit must be given to the men who have aided in the up-building of our town. The hardy settler of the pioneer days, who paved the way for the present rapid development; the capitalists who risked their money in the various enterprises that have been factors in the up-building of the community; our public officials who have been instrumental in making laws to meet the needs and conditions peculiar to a new country; and our business men of today each and all are entitled to a full share of the credit for the building of a town worth while; a town whose possibilities are today attracting the attention of thousands of home-seekers and investors, in both this country and the Motherland.

Agricultural products rank first, of course, among the natural products of the district. Timber abounds in all parts of the district, and consists, principally, of spruce and poplar. The trees give a park-like appearance to the country, which is much more attractive than the bald prairie. They also solve the fuel as well as the wind problem. The best of all building material at a nominal cost. Our trees are one of the big assets of our country. Soft coal deposits on the southeast of Lacombe, on the banks of the Red Deer river, there are probably the most extensive soft coal deposits in the Dominion.

By reason of the construction of the C.N.R. from Lacombe to the Brazeau coal fields, they now property be included in the district. The coal is practically as hard as anthracite and the indications are that these are the most extensive hard coal deposits in the world.

The advantages of a mixed farming country are obvious. The farmer does not have to depend on one crop for his revenue, and, besides, he has to wait until a certain time of the year to market his products.

Our soil and climate form an ideal combination for mixed farming. The heavy black loam with the clay sub-soil retain the moisture, and then we can always depend on an ample rainfall. The fact that our land will produce from 35 to 40 bushels of winter wheat to an acre, which averages 65 pounds to a measured bushel; that spring wheat will run 67, and oats 50 pounds to the measured bushel tells the story of the fertility of the soil. Vegetable crops do equally as well and our the "land of sunshine"—Sunny Alberta—and in a measure the Lacombe district shares that fame with the province. Climate conditions here are somewhat different than in other sections of the province. While we have the sunshine we also have ample rain, we have the Chinook winds in modified form and our snowfall is very moderate. Our climate is the happy medium between the extremes of other parts of the province and therein lies the secret of the success of this country as a mixed farming district.

During the summer months we have from 800 to 900 hours of sunshine as compared with a trifle more than 700 at Toronto. Our falls are usually sunny and mild, and very often exposed to sports; surely this is entitled to rank as a sportsman's paradise. Ducks, geese, prairie chickens, and partridge are plentiful. Our lakes are abundant with pike, perch and pickerel. In athletics, we are fully abreast of the times. Baseball, football and lacrosse are the favorite summer sports and in the winter hockey and curling are active.

The Lacombe district offers educational facilities fully equal in every respect to those of the Land Office at Lacombe. Of course, the most desirable land has been taken up by desirable means good land, convenient to railroad and trading centres. However, there is plenty of good land available which will become valuable in time with the advent of railroads; and they are bound to come as this district is too fertile to be held back by lack of proper railway facilities.

Farm lands can be bought at from $10 to $35 per acre. Raw land sells for from $10 to $18 per acre. Improved farms sell for from $12 to $35 per acre. Prices are governed, of course, by location of land, quality of soil, character of improvements, etc. Good improved farms can be bought for about $15 or $18

Of tinted with soft, warm colors, not to be reproduced on the artist's palette, lie above the horizon bathed in the mellow light of the descending sun. Now they glow in the splendor of dazzling crimson, now they catch the gold of the sun, now they reflect the prismatic scale. And they slowly fade as the day dies and twilight broods over all. The hills seem transfigured in the glory of the clouds, and with their purple hue upon them as a benediction, they too fade as twilight dies into the night. It is no small thing to be privileged to view such sunsets as figured in the glory of the clouds, and with their purple hue upon them as a benediction, they too fade as twilight dies into the night.

Judging from past demonstrations and future indications the Lacombe Experimental farm, in conjunction with the farmers of the Province, will show that Central Alberta deserves to be classed with those Provinces capable of making home life attractive and enduring—a country of homes—being quite able to produce the "Glover Blossom and the Apple."

VIEWS OF BARNETT AVENUE, LACOMBE

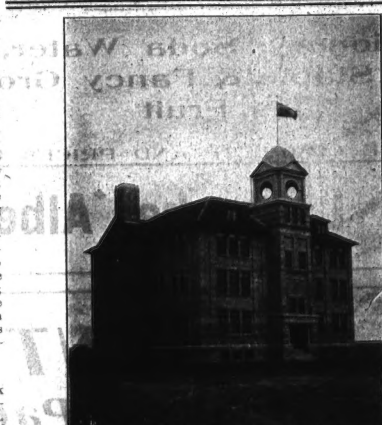

On the other hand, exceptionally desirable properties have recently been sold for as high as $50 per acre. With city property it is more desirable residential lots can be bought at from $75 to $800. Business lots can be secured for from $500 up. There are several choice lots for business purposes now available at prices ranging from $2,500 to $5,000—but they will not remain on the market long at this figure, as the advance is certain.

Among the many points of interest which lend special attractiveness to any place in its natural scenery, and in this Lacombe is rich indeed. The summit of the Alps, and yet in our home town the western skies at sunset offer a display unequalled by any other. In March, 1911, the Dominion Government in order to more fully cover the varying conditions found over Canada's immense agricultural area, extended the experimental farms by establishing a branch at Lacombe as being representative of Central Alberta. The present purpose of the department is to conduct experiments as complete as may be with cereals, fruits and trees, and in this work the 160 acres secured is being rapidly utilized. The answers to the questions potatoes set the standard for quality and size. The ease with which green food can be raised, combined with the richness of our natural pastures, that show over 82 varieties of wild grasses, makes this an ideal country for dairying and stock raising. In fact this has, for years, been known as the stock raising centre of the province. Hereford, Durham and Polled Angus stock are among the most popular breeds, some preferring one kind and others doing better with another.

It has also been demonstrated that fodder corn can be profitably grown here, and the near future will doubtless see extend into December. Although the thermometer stays below the zero mark for four months that period of our year does not present a very bad thing. The air is damp and the damp atmosphere, which we have here, is very beneficial to those suffering from bronchial, asthmatic or tubercular conditions.

The soil as a general rule is a black vegetable mold (humus) and varies from 9 to 36 inches in depth, with a clay sub-soil reaching down from 6 to 12 feet.

LACOMBE'S PUBLIC SCHOOL

silage a favorite feed for dairy stock. Hog raising is another phase of mixed farming that has proved profitable. The farmer who is accustomed to the dairying and mixed farming of the northern European countries, of the eastern and middle States, or of the eastern provinces of Canada, with their better cultivated holdings, will find here, at a greatly lower cost, the same permanent advantages, a soil of the greatest fertility, which has been conserved by wooded areas and numerous water sources, and that there is no danger of scanty moisture. The Lacombe district has no crop failures.

A.F. and A.M., C.O.E., I.O.E., and the M.W.O.A. are all represented in Lacombe by flourishing lodges, boasting of comfortable quarters and a growing membership.

The Lacombe Board of Trade, an organization composed of live business men and public spirited citizens, has been a great factor in furthering the interests of our town.

Another organization to which special attention is due, is the Lacombe Agricultural Society. Their exhibition grounds are among the best in the province and the Lacombe Fair is an annual event looked forward to by the people for miles around. The Society always offers an exceptionally strong list of prizes, which has resulted in

The spiritual, as well as the material welfare of the Lacombe district is well provided for. All of the various church denominations of the country are represented here.

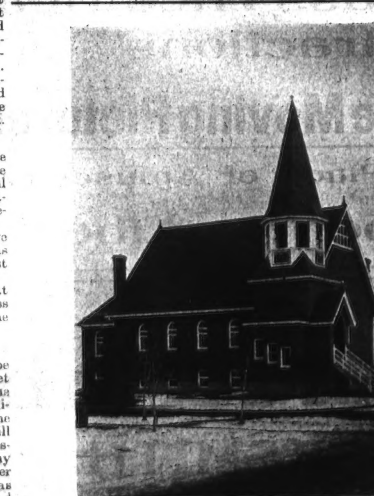

Our church societies are live organizations and they have as leaders some of the brightest men in the West.

The same "enterprise" that characterizes western business methods is also evident in the church work.

The development of Lacombe as an industrial centre is as yet in its infancy; however, with the advent of better railroad facilities, which are now assured, the "Made in Lacombe" legend will be a reality and will find expression in competition with many different lines. The Red Deer river offers great possibilities as a source of power supply and with the building of the Canadian Northern railroad into the Brazeau coal fields, the power and fuel problem is solved. Other railroads will open up new markets for our manufactured products, give us competitive freight rates and make Lacombe an ideal distributing centre.

Our industries now include a flour mill, planing mill, two brick yards, two machine shops, foundry and cement block plant.

There is yet considerable land available in the section, and the water, which can be secured through the Dominion

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH, LACOMBE

Much has been said and written now being asked of the soil in ten of Nature's panoramic spread-out here in our midst, bound to be most instructive. Valuable data will be available as showing the yield and quality of similar wheats under varied systems of cultivation. Early sorts of spring wheat give promise of being worthy of wide introduction in this section of Alberta.

While interesting and valuable data are already secured relative to the most scientific handling of cereal crops, a work at tracing much hopeful attention

ELECTRIC LIGHT PLANT

The municipally-owned and operated electric power and lighting plant is composed of a hydro electric plant situated at the junction of the Blindman and Red Deer rivers, and a steam auxiliary plant situated within the town limits. The Blindman river, from which the hydroelectric power is procured finds its source among the foot hills of the Rocky Mountains some 70 or more miles west as well as from numerous meadows, springs and small lakes that consume a great deal of water, and which flow the greater part of the year. The hydro-electric plant has also a storage area of some 35 sq. miles in the well known of the town. On the outlet of this lake the town have a concrete dam to control the water until the winter months when it is opened allowing the water to get to the river finally to the Red Deer river and through the water turbine which furnishes the power.

The steam electric plant is used only as an auxiliary during low water in the river and in case of break down or accident to the water plant, and in occasional years the hydro-electric plant can take the load the year around which depends entirely on the rainfall during the summer months. The transmission line connecting the water power with the substation in town is 8 miles long and is built of cedar poles which carry three No. 6, bare copper conductors and a private telephone line. This line has been in use five years and has given comparatively no trouble. The apparatus used in the water plant is composed of a 160 K W 6600 volt 3 phase dynamo, electric switch board, and lightning arresters, built by the Canadian General Electric Co. of Toronto, and a 35 in. Triumph Turbine horizontally set and belted to the generator.

The steam auxiliary plant consists of a 72 in. by 16 ft. return tubular boiler, boiler feed pump, a National feed water heater and a 14 x 14 simple McEwen engine, built by the Watrous Engine Co., of Brantford a Crocker Wheeler 60 K W 3 phase 2300 volt dynamo, and an electric switch board. The substation consists of three 30 K W transformers which step the voltage down from 6600 to 2300, the voltage used on the town primary circuit. Lightning arresters and switching apparatus is provided also and the load can be switched from one plant to the other without the slightest interruption. The hydro-electric plant was installed and owned by the Blindman River Electric Power Co., but was bought out in 1909 by the town and the steam auxiliary apparatus has since been added. Additional apparatus will have to be installed very shortly to take care of the load, which is increasing all the time. The town have been operating the plant almost two years during which time a most efficient surplus has been given and a surplus over and above all expenses was shown at the end of the first year operation.

Why We Prosper

The advantages offered by the Lacombe district to the prospective emigrant are such that no other part of the province has experienced the same steady and ever constant flow of thirty and well-to-do settlers during the past few years. This district fortunately has never been the victim of the homesteaders, whose work has been so conspicuous in other parts, and therefore we have never suffered the disastrous reaction which follows in the wake. Year by year kept adding to the list of its already prosperous and satisfied settlers and its exceptionally attractive results become so widely and favorably known until today we find our town surrounded with a class of farmers who have not only attained a position of independence in a very few years but have also built up for the Lacombe district a reputation that is the envy of all other parts of the province. And still only a very small percentage of the land tributary to the town. In under cultivation this is due in a measure to the fact that the speculator has considerable holdings here. It requires only men with average means and energy—means sufficient to purchase these lands and energy sufficient to bring them under a state of cultivation, in order to increase the population of the district and add to its munificence. The country is not merely a smooth and open expanse of our friends from the prairie States would wish. Strips of brush and timber of more or less width alternate with the open land, and this again is frequently dotted with bluffs of poplar and willow, while on some of the lower land there still remains considerable spruce. This provides at the door of the settler an abundance of timber for building, fencing and fuel. The smaller bluffs are not difficult to clear and provide the very best of shelter for cattle during the winter months. This is appreciated strongly by the homesteaders when contrasted with the large stretches of open prairie where firewood is very scarce even at a distance of many miles.

It is the opinion of many of the men who have settled in this district that it is much cheaper to purchase land within a reasonable distance of town where they have the advantages of good markets, good schools and numerous other privileges not to be enjoyed on the frontier. For those who wish homesteads however, they are still available in good localities to the west of the town at a distance of from thirty to eighty miles. Generally speaking the soil in the Lacombe district is a deep black loam and a clay subsoil and its wonderful yield of wheat, oats, barley and vegetables is the best recommendation of its productiveness. The composition of the soil in this particular locality is such that it stands to an amazing extent either excessive drought or moisture. To such an extent is this true that the Lacombe district has never experienced even a partial failure of crops from either of these two causes. In the Lacombe district, the pure bred stock industry of the province. Since the immigration of the pure bred cattle sale in the Territories several years ago, Lacombe stock has averaged the best prices and carried off each year about seventy-five per cent of the prize. This particular branch of the Lacombe is already the centre of a network of farmer's telephone lines, constructed and operated by the Provincial Government. The cost to the farmer is nominal. The telephone is of great value and convenience to the farmers of the district.

GRAIN YIELDS IN LACOMBE

	Bushels	Aver
	per	wt. per
	Acres	bushel
Spring wheat	25 to 35	67
Winter wheat	45 to 65	68
Barley	35 to 50	65
Oats	60 to 120	45
Potatoes	200 to 400
Timothy hay	2 to 2 1/2 tons

It may be understood that the yields will vary greatly according to methods in planting and caring for crops.

Now, can any country which can make such a record as that be considered in any sense anything but a "Grand Success"? It is common for wheat to yield up to 35 bushels per acre, and even more in this part of the province, and this quality is the best produced in the world. Can the risk of a little frost be over seriously thought of in a land that will make farmers rich in a few years, and build great cities, supporting a population equal to any region on earth on the basis of power to feed the people?

No, the climate of Alberta is in good for vegetation, is not nationally cold in winter, never milder or oppressive in summer, and is wonderfully adapted for the growth of perfect grain and vegetables. Livestock thrives in it, horses generally wintering these 170,000,000 acres will be busy at the same time, and it will be no miracle for them to yield an average of 20 bushels per acre—or the stupendous total of 3,400,000,000 bushels in a single season!

No need of getting scared of the bottom dropping out of the market, as the crop won't happen sooner than 30 years hence, and a lot of things will come to pass in that time. For one thing, Canada will have about 25,000,000 mouths to feed, and Uncle Sam to the north not less than 100,000,000—say not far from 300,000,000 people in North America. But let these fellows study out the problem themselves—it is enough to have to take care of the big things in Canada's own Western Canada is the biggest thing in sight on this continent at present, when it comes to growth, progress and chance to make some real money.

CANADA IS THE BEST COUNTRY IN THE WORLD

Montreal, Oct. 19.—Lord Chas. Beresford who has been on a visit to Canada since the beginning of August, arrived in Montreal today and will sail for England on the Empress of Ireland, Friday. His Lordship was too busy seeing Montreal to spare much time for an interview but in the traditional bluff and breezy way of what he calls "the old sea dog," he had a few opinions to express. Enthusiasm for Canada was his main topic.

"The best country in the world," he declared. "Splendid people! Can't stop to tell why. See me later, but stay half a minute. This is the country for investment. I came to get a closer acquaintance with the country and the people and also to look into financial projects and do you know what I am going to do as a result of my visit. I'm going to scrape up every penny I own, get it, and send it over here for investment. I've been all over the country this time from Montreal to Vancouver, and I say again, it's the best country in the world."

NO BASIS FOR ALARMIST REPORTS

It is quite evident that unscrupulous persons have been spreading alarming reports as to the result of this season's farm operations in Western Canada with a view of affecting the grain market. The harm which these do in influencing immigration is serious, and a determined effort should be made to run the guilty parties down.

The Winnipeg Free Press, whose crop reports have made such a reputation for it that they have a powerful influence on prices, had to issue an emphatic denial the other day of a statement that it had lowered the estimate which it had made of the yield of the prairie provinces. This report showed the largest yield by far in the history of the country and the Free Press stands by it.

It is true that the Saskatchewan yield is not as high as it was expected to be at one time, but the Free Press had made full allowance for possibilities of damage by this cause.

Alberta has escaped practically altogether, and the result must be greatly to the advantage of this province in connection with next year's immigration campaign.

Beautiful Gull Lake

Eight miles due west of Lacombe, and extending thence north-westerly, lies a lake which has already attained fame as the most beautiful sheet of water in Alberta. It has a length of eighteen miles from north to south, and a width varying from three to six miles, and at the southern end where the Lacombe road reaches the shore, a sand beach of nearly two miles in length and about one hundred feet in uniform width. The bottom of the lake is also a clean white sand, making a bathing beach not excelled in Canada. The increase in depth is very gradual, and the bottom is free from sudden depressions, rendering it perfectly safe for women and children. There are here about one hundred summer cottages which, supplemented by tents, usually accommodate a summer population of from seven hundred to one thousand. A portion of the cottages are owned by residents of Lacombe, the remainder chiefly by Edmonton and Calgary people, many of whom discover the lake's beauties year after year. There is also a comfortable summer hotel, a store and a post office with telephone connection and a daily mail and a good boat livery. Power launches and sailing boats are plentiful enough to make this part of the lake a pretty picture on any fine summer day or evening. The road from Lacombe is kept in good condition, and is easily made in thirty minutes a fact of great advantage to Lacombe business men. At this part of the shore, which is beautifully wooded, shore lots are worth from $5.00 to $10.00 per foot frontage, but very few are on the market. The property owners are now procuring incorporation, which will enable them to further improve and safeguard their cherished playground. Among the projected improvements are a pier with a pavilion, walk and break water, bath houses, etc. Milk, cream, butter, fresh vegetables, meats, poultry and fruit are daily delivered to the beach residents by near by farmers and others who are making a specialty of the business, and every suppliance for the table can be obtained at the cottage doors, good in quality and moderate in price.

Directly across the lake at a distance of four miles is another shore subdivision called Brownlow's Landing. This also is a pretty spot, having a stretch of good beach with a high wooded shore in the shelter of a bay. There are about a dozen cottages here, some of very pretty design. Most of these are owned by residents of Bentley village, which lies two miles west and to which, also, there is a good road. All required supplies are obtainable in Bentley, Walker's Point, which lies to the east of Brownlow's Landing, and encloses the bay, is also a beautiful spot, containing about two hundred acres of partially wooded park land with a high shore and a fine lake view but, beyond the construction of a landing pier, it has not been developed, not being on the market. A point on the western shore some two miles north of Brownlow's Landing, and originally known as Cook's Point, has also been subdivided, and lots in this subdivision are now offered for sale. On the eastern shore, one mile north of the original subdivision, a stretch of one mile is being surveyed and improved and will shortly be placed on the market. It has not the wide sand beach found further south but is nevertheless a very attractive spot, being particularly well wooded and easily accessible. Extensive improvements, including hotel, boules yard, walks, ball ground and bath houses are planned here and it will doubtless become a very popular part of the shore. Two miles further north, or about five miles north of the Lacombe road, there is a beautiful stretch of park land with a high shore and a pretty bay with deep water. It has also been subdivided, but, owing to the lack of good roads, has made no progress. When that beach is remedied it must become one of the best parts of the shore, as it has great natural beauty and the best harbor for boats of any larger type. There are many other beautiful spots to be found in the fifty miles of shore line of this beautiful lake, which, with its clear wholesome water, freedom from marsh or weeds and easily accessible, must make of it the premier summer resort of the province.

THE BOY SCOUTS

There will be a meeting in connection with the Boy Scouts on Thursday evening at 8 p.m. Scout Master, the Rev. O. Creighton, who has been with the Scouts since their inception, by Baden Powell, and who is trying to bring about an affiliation of troops in Alberta, has promised to attend and help get things into good shape with the Lacombe boys.

If you are interested in the Scouts, come. If you are not interested, come, and you soon will be.

About Frost

There is an impression that frosts during the cropping season make farming especially hazardous. Slight frosts are occasionally felt, but have never been felt in this climate in a very long time, and in the many millions of people who live and prosper in it, it is a very rare thing for all who, with the exception of a few, are not used to it.

While there is some risk in this line, there is also a lot more in Iowa, Kansas or Missouri from continued droughts, hot winds, chinqu bugs,essian flies or grass hoppers. This is not a thing, but is meant to show the unsafe chances are really not as unfavorable, as is some of the most successful farming sections.

The worst crop Alberta ever had, rate of yield considered, was in 1910—the dry year. But, Spring Wheat averaged for that year of what was the closest to failure ever seen here, 12.65 bushels per acre, and Winter Wheat 10.48 bushels.

The Ten-Year average for Spring Wheat, including 1910, is 17.64 bushels, and of Winter Wheat is 21.46, compared with an average in Spring Wheat for North Dakota from 1896 to 1905 of 12.2; for South Dakota of 11.1; for Minnesota of 13.3; for Iowa of 14.1; for Nebraska of 14.4.

That is to say, the "Worst Failure Known Here Far Exceeded in Actual Yield the Average of the Greatest Spring Wheat States of America."

out of doors without shelter, living on the nutritious grasses, and come out in spring as sound and well-fed, as most animals in Ontario or the States do on bare shelter and regular feeding.

Hundreds of Millions of Bushels of Grain will be grown in this climate in a very long time, and in the many millions of people who live and prosper in it, it is a very rare thing for all who, with the exception of a few, are not used to it.

The Size of The West

Western Canada—Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia—is no little garden patch. The man who has looked it over carefully says these four provinces have 170,000,000 acres of good wheat land, for instance. But, only 8,395,400 of these numerous acres were under cultivation in 1910, and of these 1,517,400 were broken last year. So it is probable that no less than 10,000,000 acres will be farmed this year.

But, that leaves 160,000,000 acres not yet touched, enough to keep several million farmers busy during years to come to subdivide it and make it yield the Mighty Crops of Wheat and Dollars it will surely produce. Why, think of it—some day all

ALBERTA GOOD ENOUGH FOR HIM

Lacombe, Alta., Oct. 21st, 1911. Editor Western Globe.

I came to this country about fourteen years ago and bought three quarter sections of C.P.R. land and took a homestead in Pleasant Valley, breaking up about 400 acres, and sold with a profit of $10,000.00. Going to Chilliack, B. C., I bought another farm and sold again in a year and a half with about $10,000.00 profit. I then returned to Kansas, U.S.A., buying a section and selling again with a profit of $10,000.00. Going to Oklahoma, I got stuck, meeting with a drought, and we concluded to return to Alberta with six of my boys with the intention of buying a couple of sections of land and I expect to make another stake in Alberta. I have a party with me of six who are very much delighted with the country and expect to locate here with me. They are some of the best and most respected citizens of Grady County, Oklahoma, namely: C. B. Bruce, Chas. Acton and Son, John Graham, and Mr. Howell of Verdun, Oklahoma and Henry Miller, of Enid, Oklahoma. I will say in conclusion that I like Alberta better than any other place I have ever lived for a money-maker and good weather conditions.

J. W. Jackson, Spokane, Wash.

INDIAN SUMMER

There is a tang in the Indian Summer air in Western Canada that makes a man glad he is alive. Through the autumn haze everything looks mellow and beautiful. Even the leafless trees seem to wear a smile when the sun strikes them on a frosty morning and the sweet aroma of the morning breeze seems to take the bitterness out of human nature. To us, Indian Summer is a balm, a climate to compensate for a season of toil and anxiety. Soothed by its sunny fragrance we almost forget the harsh blows of fortune and we struggle anew to conquer next year. We pick up our heels a little livelier than we did a few weeks ago and we accomplish more. Activity is in the air. The plow horses move faster, the plow runs smoother, and the world seems brighter. We go about our work in a more cheerful frame of mind, and our ill worry less than they did. Not that our sense of responsibility is some of the best and most respected citizens of Grady County, Oklahoma, namely: C. B. Bruce, Chas. Acton and Son, John Graham, and Mr. Howell of Verdun, Oklahoma and Henry Miller, of Enid, Oklahoma. I will say in conclusion that I like Alberta better than any other place I have ever lived for a money-maker and good weather conditions.

Tickets are now on sale at the Opera House.

ACQUITTED

A verdict of acquittal returned by the jury in the Supreme Court before noon Thursday in case of Frank Van Cammeret, the young hotel clerk charged with manslaughter in the killing of Raymond Brahvelt, a Belgian and fellow countryman, on Dominion Election Day, September 21, at Maskey siding, 95 miles west of Edmonton. The case went to the jury at 11:15, a little time being consumed in arriving at a decision. The jury found that the shooting was purely accidental, and that Van Cammeret, acting in the capacity of deputy returning officer, was not criminally responsible for the death of Brahvelt by reason of carrying a revolver.

The Industrial Academy

Last Wednesday, at nine a.m., the Alberta Industrial Academy opened for its fifth year, the third in its present quarters. There are fifty-one students enrolled, thirty of whom are from points outside of Lacombe. The teaching force consists of eleven members, and work is offered in the first twelve grades. Besides their regular work in the class room the teachers take the oversight and leadership in the various lines of domestic work and industries. All the domestic duties are performed by the members of the school family, thus giving the students training in the proper performance of the common everyday tasks found in all walks of life. A number of students have enrolled for instrumental music, and classes are being formed in night singing and chorus work. Although the two buildings now used as dormitories and class rooms are not yet completed, the work of the mechanics is not allowed to interfere with the class work, and both are going on together.

During the school year the building will be painted, much of the interior work being already completed. Additions are being made to the equipment of the institution, including suitable desks for the recitation rooms, and new books for the library. Among the recent additions to the latter might be mentioned a set of the new "Schaff-Herzog" Encyclopedia of Religious Knowledge. As the building operations are completed industries and trades will be established, that students may train the hand as well as the head. Material is on hand, and an instructor has arrived at the school to begin the broom-making work this winter. A building will be erected for this purpose and it is hoped that this trade will become a permanent part of the work. The aim of the institution is to train youth for the proper enjoyment of life, to do all the good they can, with the idea that they will go out into the world and teach men to live better lives and have higher ideals. Although the institution is operated under the auspices of the Seventh-Day Adventist denomination, and according to the tenets of their belief, students of other denominations are welcome, and liberty of religious practice is allowed so far as does not conflict with the system of the school. The institution has been self-supporting in the past, all money received from donations having gone into the erection of buildings. These donations have all come from people in the Province of Alberta.

Alfalfa Growing Practical Anywhere

A very interesting and valuable treatise on alfalfa culture in America by Joseph Wing, Agricultural Expert, Mechanicsburg, Ohio, contains the following interesting information regarding this plant, which more than any of the legumes is today occupying the attention of farmers in the Canadian West. Some things dealt with will not be practical in this country, but generally the treatise is one that will be helpful to every man trying to grow alfalfa in the Canadian West. Mr. Wing says:

"A record of its origin cannot be ascertained, but it is known in the time of the Romans, at information 'as how to sow it, how to till it, and how, when it is grown, it is good for all manner of beastly purposes.' It is found in the old Roman books on agriculture, and from that day to this it is a plant held in high esteem wherever the best agricultural methods are in use, especially in dry and warm climates where irrigation is practiced.

The introduction of alfalfa into America proceeded from two sources, the English settler in Virginia and the Atlantic colony, which brought it with them, and at one time many years ago it was in vogue under the name of 'Lucerne' in New York parts of New England and Virginia. It was recognized as having a marketable value, but acting strangely under cultivation, responding well for one man and refusing to grow for another, growing beautifully in one field and refusing to grow in another adjacent one, it failed to make much seed and eventually its culture died out almost entirely in the Atlantic Coast.

In the West it was introduced to the Pacific coast by the Spanish people who brought Alfalfa to Chili, Mexico, Peru, and in a small way to California. It thrived in the dry, warm valleys, in soils rich in mineral elements and well watered by irrigation. One Henry Miller, who lived in San Francisco, imported the seed from Chili, and began growing alfalfa crops in the San Jose valley and back in 1875. When Mr. J. E. Wing visited the ranches of Lux and Miller, he found feeding there on green alfalfa one hundred thousand cattle, and very many sheep. From California the plant spread westward to Utah, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Kansas, Nebraska, and later to Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, and New York.

From Atlantic to Pacific At one time it was thought that alfalfa growing must be confined to certain climatic belts, but now it is known that it thrives, so far as climate is concerned, almost equally well from the Atlantic to the Pacific, from the Lakes to the Gulf. It certainly does better in the warmer climate where it has a longer growing season, and with the exception of high mountain plateaus, any part of America is warm enough for two crops a year. While it prefers rich loams, limey soils, it will grow luxuriantly on strong, stiff, limestone clays, once they are made dry with tiles and fed with manure. It grows on sand where the sand is made rich. It grows away from limestone when the land has been sweetened with lime. In truth there is hardly a type of soil not now growing alfalfa under enthusiastic cultivation, who persist in giving the conditions that it needs and deserves.

The Clover Queen Easily the queen of all clovers and of all the plants of the meadow in alfalfa, it is the hardest of them all, and most lasting, the most productive, the most efficient soil enricher, it is the most beautiful, and it yields hay of the highest quality. It reveals in dry land much sweeter with lime (where this is needed) and rich with manure. Alfalfa is the most energetic soil enricher of all the clovers, but it must find fertile soil on which to begin and cannot, like sweet clover, begin on worn-out lands. Once it is established its ability to build up the field on which it stands, and the adjoining fields from the manure made by feeding it, is nothing less than marvellous.

The New Jersey experimental station has shown that the yield of an acre of good alfalfa contains fertilizing ingredients that in the shape of commercial fertilizers would cost on the market at least $65, so it can readily be seen that once alfalfa is established on a farm and the hay fed thereon, and the manure saved, that farm must rapidly increase in productivity.

A Personal Alfalfa is a perennial, enduring on well drained soil from five to fifty years with one sowing. It may be cut from three to five times a year and will yield in the region of the corn belt, from three to six tons of hay per acre. The composition of alfalfa hay is such that it has almost the same nutritive value as wheat bran, and may be substituted for wheat bran in the ration of clover with good results.

As a feed for all classes of live stock it is unequalled. Every animal upon the farm loves alfalfa, and thrives upon it. As a pasture plant it has no equal in the amount which animals will gain from an acre of it, as much as 600 pounds of pork per acre being frequently reported where hogs have grazed it. It is also the best horse pasture known, and is sometimes used as a pasture for sheep and cows, although one must observe due care in the use of alfalfa, since these animals since they may bloat.

A Soiling Crop As a soiling crop alfalfa easily heads the list. It yields the most herbage and of the highest quality, and indeed it is much better for the meadow, and usually for the animals, to feed it off by soiling rather than by pasturing.

How To Seed In seeding so much mystery has been about this subject that many farmers are afraid to try it, but the study of alfalfa has begun 25 years since and may be assumed to be the matter of four words—lime, drainage, humus, and inoculation—and they are given in their relative importance. Lime is necessary on soils not naturally of limestone formation or filled with limestone pebbles. Then as to drainage, there is no use in planting alfalfa on any soil where water may ordinarily be found at a depth of less than three feet. Alfalfa may grow all right until the roots strike the water but then it will probably die. Fertile soil contains enough humus. Impoverished soil may be so deficient that special preparation must be made before alfalfa can possibly succeed. Stable manure, where obtainable, is the very best thing for adding the proper humus to the soil, and when alfalfa is intended for seed it should be used year in advance and followed with clean cultivation to overcome what weeds might be sown with the manure.

A good way is to top dress the alfalfa during its first winter, but it might be spread evenly, as large chunks might smother the young plants.

To Inoculate Mr. Wing recommends inoculation, not that it is always necessary but it is an inexpensive process, and in some cases out of six it will actually pay. To inoculate alfalfa means the necessary to obtain soil from some near-by field and apply it at the rate of 100 pounds per acre, sowing it late in the afternoon and it is safe to say that the roots harrowing it in immediately before the sun to strike soil, thus the whole seed. It also uses the whole growing season and it is the one crop that the farmer grows that does this. It is very hardy and does not much mind the cold. As soon as the spring has warmed the earth it is up again and growing.

For Working Horses There is no one thing so good as alfalfa for the working horse. It keeps him secure and healthy and requires less grain when he can have alfalfa hay, and is fuller of life and spirit than he fed upon other hay. For old plowed horses it is old ground, and hard-worked horses in this field it has great restorative powers. For driving horses it should be fed in moderate amounts, else it will make them fat and soft, and it should be always kept in mind that too large amounts are harmful. Its feeding value being pound for pound equal to wheat bran.

For Mares and Foals There is nothing else so good for the mare as alfalfa before foaling as to run on alfalfa pasture, and eat alfalfa hay in winter. Her colt comes strong and well developed, and there is no scarcity of milk for it, and then on the alfalfa meadow the colt early learns to nip the delicious herbage, and thus gains additional nourishment. The best thoroughbreds in the U.S. often come from the alfalfa meadows. In Kentucky breeders of race horses in Kentucky are beginning to add it to the bill of fare.

For the Dairy Herd Calves grown on alfalfa develop rapidly and are better when become mothers earlier than when developed on other foods. Pregnant cows fed on alfalfa come in strong and well nourished, with full udders. Milk- ing cows fed with it give milk with no other combination. A gentleman milking one of the best herds of Guernseys in America, on adding alfalfa hay increased the milk yield twenty per cent.

For Sheep Sheep prefer alfalfa above all other forage, and it is best suited to their needs. They move more than any other, require a crop as it takes the place of food rich in protein, and this alfalfa supplies. The pregnant ewe needs it to make good that highly organized body made up mostly of protein compounds—her unborn lamb. She needs it to repair the waste in her own body and with alfalfa feeding she comes in strong, and her flow of milk assured. For fattening lambs nothing can take the place of alfalfa and what has been said of the mare and the ewe is equally applicable to best cattle.

For Pigs The problem of maintaining brood sows in complete health in winter is a serious one in the corn belt. If fed on a liberal allowance of alfalfa hay she finds in it nearly all the nourishment that she needs, and after farrowing has plenty of milk. It is wise to allow her one or two of corn or a little grain each day in addition to what early cut alfalfa hay she will consume.

Animals should never be allowed to tread on alfalfa fields in winter as it is sure to destroy the crowns to be tramped upon in cold weather. Neither should wagons pass over the meadows in winter.

When to Cut It is usually cut when about one-fifth of the plants begin to show bloom. A better way of ascertaining the proper time is to watch for the buds at the base of the plants and cut when they appear above the ground, these buds being the beginning of new stalks, and their appearance indicates that the plant is ready to make another crop. As a pasture crop it is especially adapted for horses and beef cattle, and perhaps the greatest profit comes from such use. With sheep and cows it sometimes causes bloat, and the best preventive is to have the alfalfa mixed with grain in the pasture, and the best grass to mix is bromegrass. It should not be eaten down close and should be mown twice during the season and made into hay, and should not be pastured directly after being mown, this being a sure way of inviting disaster. All stock should be taken off in October, or at the beginning of frost, to take advantage of the alfalfa plant over other forage crops is that it roots so deep in the ground, it is safe to say that the roots penetrate as deep as there is soil, thus the whole seed is killed. It also uses the whole growing season and it is the one crop that the farmer grows that does this. It is very hardy and does not much mind the cold. As soon as the spring has warmed the earth it is up again and growing.

BUSY CLIVE

When the early settlers were passing their way northward along the line of the C. & E. railroad into the Lacombe district a number were attracted by the natural advantages and scenic beauties of the Pleasant and Long valleys. This district owes much to the pushing enterprise and healthy ambition of these early inhabitants. They found a soil naturally fertile, well watered and not too difficult to bring under cultivation. Their well directed energy and diligence has been amply rewarded. The visitor's eye today is at once attracted by the large cultivated areas that seem to be almost continuous, the commodious buildings and excellent residences, the large herds of sleek looking cattle, the streams of water and the general air of prosperity. Better than that, he could find a thrifty, contented and prosperous people.

Clive is the natural centre of these two valleys, being situated at the point where the two converge and is easy of access from all surrounding settlements. Mr. Fred Allison was the first to recognize this strategic position in a practical way by moving the store and post office formerly called "Urquhart's" to this site. This store was named the "Pioneer Store." It has changed hands several times since but still exists as a very flourishing institution; a larger notice of which will be given shortly.

The creamery building was next erected, followed by the blacksmith shop, then a livery stable. Slowly, at first, building followed building until even those who affected to despise become impressed.

This centre at first rejoiced in the significant and appropriate name of Valley City, but after it won a name and place upon the C.P.R. system, the people were informed that in choice of name they were forewarned by a town in North Dakota upon the Sault Ste. Marie system. It became necessary to select a new one. Like a famous wrestler of old, who strove all night to find victory at dawn, thus winning for himself a new and more historic name, so the inhabitants after their long, arduous, determined and now victorious struggle carried on at the same time, were willing to receive a new name significant of triumph. The name of Clive, founder and defender of the British Dominions in India, was suggested and accepted. By the name of Clive it will henceforth be known and the residents are resolved to do nothing to cast dishonor upon its historic lustre.

This is not the place to enter into any extended history of Clive's struggle for railroad recognition. Suffice it here to make a simple explanation to the uninitiated. When the Canadian Pacific branch, east from Lacombe, was being constructed seven years ago, they followed the plan of laying down stations about eight or nine miles apart, expecting that all traffic would come to it any day. This arrangement left Clive midway between two stations. Either of these were difficult of access to many of the settlers. It was in vain, at first, that it was shown that the greater part of the freight came from this district, and that an unusual case was presented. The people, disappointed, resolved not to be frustrated. They organized, appointed committees and waited the day, but it necessitated the laying out of a competing townsite, the payment of a considerable sum to the C.P.R. and the putting in of the siding by the people themselves.

One year ago last May, passenger trains first stopped here. Station and shipping facilities soon followed. A commodious stock yard with weigh scales were added. A loading platform is found a great convenience. A water tank has just been completed and next year a standard station building will be a reality.

Already business here has more than justified these expenditures. Over 450,000 bushels of grain were shipped out of here since last year besides other products of the farm. It is a large outlet producing region but we did not secure definitely how many car loads were shipped.

The progress of Clive has been steady without any unhealthy boom, and subsequent collapse. A fine agricultural centre is here in course of forming, and the same indomitable character that the past is still here and growing. Depend upon it, you will hear more of it in the future. All early prophets of it have been laughed out of court. The knocker of yore has become silent. The rest holds forth and is responsible for the "trim" most appearance of the citizens.

Mr. B. Hertzlet has opened a restaurant on Main St., and guarantees to feed any hungry way-farer day or night. Mrs. DeWitt has charge during the day.

Mr. Lee Phares, our blacksmith is constantly on hand to attend to the wants of the surrounding country, and work is put out with despatch and uniform hours are disregarded when a customer's needs are pressing. The "hum" of the chop mill, under the management of Mr. Geo. Harty, is nearly always in evidence and he successfully caters to the wants of the settlers in this community.

Dr. McNab, graduate of the famous Edinburgh College, has lately settled at Clive. He is winning the title of a good professional man and a good member of society. He will soon have a stock of drugs and other necessities on hand for the community's convenience.

There are other openings yet in this progressive little town: we need a harness shop. There is a good opening for a flour mill. There are excellent clay deposits contiguous to the town site, and a good opportunity for a brick and tile yard.

A new block 50 feet by 60 ft. is in course of construction by Mr. Wm. Morton, on the corner of Main St. and Longstreet Ave. When completed it will be the largest building in town and will be occupied by a new merchant.

CLIVE METHODIST CHURCH AND PARSONAGE

year under the name of Brereton & Wilson. They started a general merchandise business.

The Golden Rod Creamery is also run by Mr. Brereton. It was started six years ago and has been steadily increasing business. Last year 23,000 lbs. of butter were sent out. This year it is run under the management of Mr. Lee Hare. A poultry fattening station has been carried on at the same time, which affords excellent prices for the fowls. Over three tons of poultry are yearly disposed of. Fulthorpe Bros., late of Winnipeg, and who bought out Wm. Ross's business, six months ago, are carrying on a profitable trade in hardware and implements. They are always busy and are glad to wait, at any time on the customer's wants.

Mr. A. A. Smith, formerly General Superintendent of the Alberta Pacific Elevator Co., settled with us last March and conducts a first-class grain yard, with a complete stock of native materials, also British Columbia; both Coast and Mountain. He has formed a growing trade, and though outside competition is keen, he is able to meet it and successfully secure the complete trade of the district.

Mr. A. A. Smith and Norman Meadows handle farm and threshing machinery and secure a very large portion of the trade. The Alberta Pacific Elevator erected here last year, handled over 200,000 bushels of grain. Considering the extent of its own territory, it pushed with the best in Alberta this year. Mr. Smith is in charge of it this coming season and grain is now pouring in of this season's crop. The livery stable has been in charge of Mr. J. T. Reynolds for some years and he is able to take charge of all the business in this line. Farm machinery and wagons are another interest he has and makes frequent sales in this trade.

The King Edward Hotel, built in 1907, has accommodation for about fifty guests. It has been purchased by Mr. Reynolds and has been carried on under Mrs. Reynolds management for several years. It has been recently painted outside and decorated inside, improving its appearance greatly. This hotel enjoys an ever increasing trade.

Mr. Kennedy, late of Winnipeg, has opened a meat market here, supplying the wants of the town and surrounding country. Though only here a few months, his trade is increasing. Mr. Kennedy knows his business well and is hopeful for an extended trade.

Messrs. Hertzlet and Kennedy are in charge of the pool hall and keep on hand the stock of usual accessories. They have lately refitted their building and it presents a pleasing appearance internally. Here also Mr. C. P. Willow, our tonsorial architect, rock formations in several places. They are a favorite resort in the summer season.

But the higher interests of Clive are by no means neglected. Early in its history the Methodist Church was built here and has continued to be an excellent factor in its life and growth. The building is 40 feet by 38 ft., with tower attached. Lately a parsonage has been added at a cost of over $1400.00, and is very serviceable and commodious for the use of the present clergyman. The congregation take an interest in their property and are continually improving it. The church work is filling an increasingly useful place in the community life, and has earnest and interested helpers.

A very neat and handsome Episcopal church has been erected and is indeed a credit to the congregation and the place. They hope soon to have a rectory in charge, and the building open to regular services.

Before closing this description of Clive and its district, we must tell of the splendid resources of the farming lands contiguous. Its agricultural wealth is hard to equal. The traveler through this region would be struck at once with the large grain fields stretching in every direction. The yellow "stocks" dot the landscape everywhere and seem continuous for a distance. Oats are largely grown and even last year, in many instances the fields yielded over a hundred bushels to the acre. Winter wheat is now being cultivated to considerable extent, and yields from twenty-five to fifty bushels to the acre were realized. Barley is grown to a considerable extent and used chiefly for feed. Rye, to a less extent, is a highly prized feed crop. Timothy is quite extensively grown, and produces profitable yields from one to two tons per acre.

Well bred cattle, hogs, horses, birds, etc., are a specialty with quite a number. Men like Messrs. Walters, Gilbert, Wm. Morrison and J. Maurer, are among the foremost in raising standard bred farm animals.

A best interest is everywhere taken in whatever promotes the value of the farm and its products. It would not be out of place to give some yields of grain obtained in this district in last year's crop.

Roy Reynolds, out of 185 acres of oats and wheat, almost paid the purchase price of the land on which it grew. One hundred acres of oats averaged 50 bushels to the acre. James Grose, on 28 acres raised 103 bushels to the acre. Ezra Allison had 40 acres of oats to average 100 bushels per acre. Mr. J. Longstreet had a five-acre field yield 125 bushels to the acre, while a mixture of fall wheat and oats went 103 bushels to the acre. Others might be added of the same kind.

Some idea of the area cultivated by individual farmers may be gleaned from the following figures:

He had a yield last year of fall wheat of 37 bushels to the acre, and his total oat crop was 13,000 bushels. This is one of the finest farming propositions in Alberta.

Mr. Gilbert raised 17000 bushels from 350 acres. Wm. Morrison raised 14,000 from 325 acres. Mr. Walters 14,000 from 300 acres. Other yields were: G. A. Meadows 9,000 bushels; B. F. Allison 8,000 bushels; Mr. Longstreet 6,500; Mr. Proctor and F. T. Thompson 6,000 each.

A few yields like this soon make man independent. It is readily apparent in commodious barns and other improvements. Second residences are now going up, lacking none of the modern conveniences. New homes have been built this year by Messrs. Walters and G. M. Smith, models of convenience and good taste. Others will follow.

It is the ambition of Clive to be the business, social and religious centre of this progressive people. As the first steps towards the early years pass more leisure is given for the higher interests and pursuits of civilized life.

THE ANGLICAN CHURCH, CLIVE

Mr. Pringle has 4160 acres. There are two lodges looking well stocked with cattle, horses after the social and material in hogs, and cultivates 1500 acres of their members. One is the Brotherhood of American Women, and the other the Modern Woodmen of America. Both are in a flourishing condition.

The Clive Board of Trade looks after all matters appertaining to the material welfare of the place, and is well officered with Mr. A. A. Smith as President and T. A. Brereton as Secretary.

Clive hopes to grow and prosper under a happy, contented and enlightened people.

NO VOTE ON LOCAL OPTION

The following letter which explains itself, has been received by Mr. H. M. Trimble:

Edmonton, Alta., Oct. 21st, 1911.

Just received word from the Department that it is impossible to comply with the act and have the notices in all papers in the "License" Districts No. 2, and 3 within the prescribed time.

No vote on Local Option will be taken in 1911. They have assured us, however, that our petitions will be filed and their present status maintained, and that the vote will be brought upon these petitions during 1912. They have assured us that legislation will be passed at the next session simplifying the present law so that it will be made workable, and the possibility of quashing upon localities be reduced to this minimum.

With you, I regret this delay, but it cannot possibly be avoided, and the assurance of the Government are such as will make our position very much stronger in the future.

We shall not cease to work for the vote will take place upon these petitions next year. Yours sincerely, W. G. W. FORTUNE.

OUR METHODS :

We Buy

Every line in our store is selected with a view solely to its dependability and utility. We aim to have each of our many lines complete at all times.

Farm produce

We pay cash and the highest market prices for all kinds of farm produce, but insist on a high average of quality of same.

We Sell

Our increasing trade makes it possible to buy in large quantities and often the result is that we get the benefit of the very lowest prices which we share with our patrons. Our stock is constantly turning and is therefore always fresh and up-to-date.

Our Claim

We do not claim to be the cheapest store in the country, but we do maintain that cheap goods are dear at any price, and that high quality goods at reasonable prices are always by far the cheapest.

We can back our Talk

This is the store that always has what you want when you want it, and at the price that you ought to get it. We have the goods and if we don't have your trade it is unfortunate for both of us, for without it we both lose money, and with it we would both make money.

A Clincher

The best argument we have in favor of this store as a trading place is the fact that we can count our satisfied customers by the hundred—they would not stay with us for other than business reasons. There's no room for sentiment in business, at least not in ours—in place of it you get your money's worth of goods and quality at the "BIG STORE."

Opportunities in Alberta

Few countries come nearer possessing within their own boundaries the possibilities of supplying all the necessities of life than does Alberta. The staff of life can be produced almost everywhere. In the extreme south, there are immense areas suitable for the production of the best hard winter wheat known to the world. Beginning in the central portion of the province and extending 500 miles north of Edmonton, good spring wheat is successfully grown, and in proportion as advanced methods of agriculture are applied to counteracting the excessive fertility of the soil, the grain approaches the quality of the famous No. 1 hard. The coarser strains produce less than 20 measured bushels to the acre, are considered a poor crop, and any testing less than 30 pounds per measured bushel are deemed inferior in quality. In feeding value, their superior is nowhere to be found. Vegetables, the next in rank to grain also attain a high degree of perfection here. Potatoes, radishes, turnips, carrots, pumpkins, onions, mangels, sugar beets and cabbage, grow here to a size seldom surpassed in any country, while for the production of meat of a high quality, this province has no superior. The vast stretches of prairie lands in the south and east produce without the aid of grain a quality of beef and mutton, which seldom fails to tickle the palate of the most fastidious. The luxuriant and succulent herbage further north or west, supplemented with oats and barley produce an article equally as good. These districts possess also ideal conditions for dairying. Here creameries abound. Some operated by the Provincial Government, others under private control and each vying with the other in the quantity and quality of its output. While sheep raising is less profitable here than in the drier prairie section, the loss is more than more than take the place of the pumpkin of the south, and these supplemented with oats during the growing period and barley during the fattening, make pork production both easy and profitable. Vast forest areas extend along the foot hills of the Rockies and along the rivers and lakes of the north; here the plainer varieties in thickness from five to ten ft. are numerous. In the extreme southeast natural gas is the fuel for household and manufacturing purposes, while in the extreme north large natural gas and oil areas have been discovered. The semi-luxuries such as sugar and fruit of the smaller varieties are also grown with marked success. Each year fruit increases. Raspberries, blackberries, dewberries, gooseberries, and currants, red and black are all successfully grown and yield bountifully in response to proper cultivation. Few countries offer a greater variety of agricultural enterprises than does Alberta. For him whose ambition it is to engage extensively in the production of wheat growing, no country affords better opportunities. Here the mineral ingredients of soil predominate. The same conditions which make possible the production of an animal the hardness of whose bone and muscle are second to none. Here the draft horse with ordinary care retains his size and the race of his quality and stamina. To him whose mind runs less to extensive farming but would obtain equal returns from smaller areas, the south offers many opportunities. Through irrigation, sugar beet growing is assuming larger proportions, while alfalfa growing is proving a remunerative enterprise; these taken in connection with poultry raising and swine breeding are giving liberal rewards to diligence and skill. He who prefers a varied scenery and diversified farming will find millions of acres to select from throughout central and southern portions of the province; while the "Timber Jack" finds abundance of material upon which to exercise his ingenuity and skill. Few countries in the same latitude present opportunities for a greater variety of manufactures than does the province of Alberta. Flour milling is destined to rank among her greatest; meat packing will also figure prominently, while the manufacture of dairy products is steadily on the increase. The raw material for the manufacture of Portland Cement is found in large quantities. The manufacture of leather and leather products will, as her live stock and meat industries develop, assume large proportions and her inexhaustible supply of soft wood combined with cheap fuel will, as soon as transportation facilities are perfected, open excellent opportunities for wood pulping enterprises; the useful metals are found in quantities within her borders, while

A HINT TO EDUCATORS

Every profession in the world has its press, its weekly and monthly organs. Though all the farmers in the country know that the farming world is well supplied with its magazines devoted to the interests of farmers as any other class, it is a most lamentable fact that a very large proportion of them never read a line of an agricultural paper. Yet it is the most profitable thing they could do for themselves. Thousands of farmers toil early and late from one year's end to the other, and only just succeed in making a bare living, and sometimes not even that, when a little more time devoted to absorbing from books and papers fresh ideas on the subject of their work, which they could forthwith put into practice would be simply invaluable to them. Now would it not be an excellent idea to alter this state of affairs by making agricultural papers and magazines a definite part of the equipment of every rural school? Children brought up through their school days in the company of farm journals and encouraged to read them will not only become more interested in the work they are going to give their lives to, but they will continue to read such profitable literature in after life.

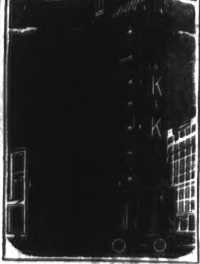

AN AVERAGE CROP IN LACOMBE DISTRICT

compensated for by its adaptability to swine breeding. Every thing necessary for the production of pork of the highest quality can be produced here; winter rye and rape make an excellent substitute for the clovers of the corn belt. To the surprise of all new comers, the excellence and productiveness of the northern turnip make it of building material such as spruce, poplar, tamarac and jackpine abound, while the willow has no superior for fence building. Fuel, that other prime necessity of all northern countries, may be had here for the asking, while, throughout both prairie and timber sections of the north, centre and south, deposits of coal varying from the area sown to sugar beets largely increased and are suitable for best growing makes possible the production of an amount of sugar far in excess of that required for home consumption. As the wild fruits become scarcer and as the land is brought under cultivation, attention to garden-cultivation and the growing of small winter wheat, she offers him unlimited opportunities. The south and east possess thousands upon thousands of square miles of prairie scarcely level enough to be called flat nor broken enough to be called rolling, almost every foot of which will some day be brought under cultivation. To him who would combine horse raising with

THE JESSE FRASER AGENCY

Real Estate, Loans, Insurance

LACOMBE, ALBERTA

Real Estate Values in Lacombe

There is probably no town or district in the province of Alberta that has more industry to offer the investor or speculator in town property or farm lands than Lacombe. A recent statement we admit, notwithstanding we believe this to be a fact.

Lacombe has never had a boom; both town and farm property have shown a steady increase in values. However, with a few exceptions there has been nothing sensational in the advance. It is true that farm lands and town property have increased fully 25 per cent. during the last year, an advance however, that was the natural outcome of increased demand for our lands, the growth of our town, combined with the assurance of better transportation facilities, and the general prosperity of our district.

Jesse Fraser

There is no more popular representative of the real estate interests in our city than the Jesse Fraser Agency, who succeeded to the business of the Western Canada Land and Brokerage Company, last January.

This business does a general real estate business, handling property, and its list of improved and unimproved farm lands and city property. Their listings include many very choice propositions in all classes. Their offerings in acreage tracts, close in, and suitable for subdivision purposes, are especially attractive. They also handle the exclusive agency for Hyde Park, a site of a subdivision recently placed on the market. This property adjoins the town limits on the west and is not more than a ten-minute walk from the "new" office. Hyde Park will no doubt become a part of Lacombe's most desirable residential district in the very near future.

In addition to the real estate business, the firm also does a general brokerage business, negotiates loans, and writes fire insurance.

The firm is composed of Mr. Jesse Fraser and C. H. Storey. Mr. Fraser came to Lacombe from Lethbridge four years ago. He is a resident of Lacombe, an active member of the Board of Trade, and is always to be found among the leaders in every movement intended to advance the interests of the community.

Mr. Storey, who has been a resident of Lacombe for the past seventeen years, came here from Bruce County, Ontario.

Mr. Fraser and Mr. Storey form a strong combination, and their reputation for reliability and progressiveness is well established. We do not hesitate to recommend this firm to anyone interested in their line of business.

John McKenty

Real Estate and Financial Broker.

To Mr. John McKenty belongs the distinction of being the pioneer real estate and financial broker of Lacombe. Mr. McKenty established his business here eleven years ago, and during that time he has handled over a very large amount of real estate and financial business, and his list of clients is a long one.

The writing of insurance, of all kinds, and the handling of investments, form what is also a very important part of Mr. McKenty's business. He also acts as adjuster for fire insurance companies and is an expert Hyde Park, a site of a subdivision recently placed on the market.

He has always been prominent in public affairs, having served as a member of the council and at the present time being the Municipal Auditor and Secretary of the Board of Trade.

As a public official he has always worked for the interests of his community, performing his duties with the same thoroughness and so characteristic of his methods in his private business.

As a business man, public official or private citizen, we have no one who has done more for our town than Mr. McKenty.

R. H. Inglis

Land, Loans and Insurance.

This firm occupies the front rank among our best real estate brokers, not only on account of the large volume of business passing through its hands, but on account of the ability and absolute reliability of the man behind it, R. H. Inglis.

This business was started months ago. Until very recently Mr. Inglis has had a partner, Mr. D. J. Hutchinson who withdrew to engage in business in Winnipeg.

Mr. Inglis does a general real estate business, of all improved and unimproved farm and town property, and has to his credit some of the most important land deals ever put through in this section.

The firm of Inglis & Hutchinson acted as purchasing agent for the Canadian Northern Railway in buying their right-of-way through the town. This deal involved the expenditure of over $40,000 and there are still a few pieces to buy that will add to that amount. This business was handled in a manner very satisfactory to all parties concerned.

In addition to this, they have handled considerable other business and residential property during the past few weeks with profit to their clients as well as to the firm.

Mr. Inglis has been a resident of this country for the past thirteen years. He came to Alberta from Duluth, and first located in Olds. From Olds he went to Camrose, and from there came to Lacombe.

He has seen the country transformed from a wilderness of brush to one of the most marvellously productive farming sections of this "Last Best West", and he has also witnessed the growth of Lacombe from a few ram-shackle trading places and houses, to a modern town of up-to-date business houses and beautiful homes. He has stayed with the country through lean years and fat years, and today is mostly reaping the harvest of his optimism that has never wavered in its faith in the future of Lacombe and the country tributary.

Asley & Wilson

Real Estate and Financial Broker.

That the equipment, located for the better part of the two years, is a very important business, in which the real estate business is a very important part. The rapid growth of Lacombe and the surrounding country, has called into existence many lines of business, but real estate goes on quietly all the time, without any particular boom, prices on the market are going up conservatively, as the demand increases. One of the firms who is engaged in this important business is Asley & Wilson, whose offices are located on Railway St., opposite the Adelphi Hotel.

Their listings include farm and ranch lands, city property, coal and mineral lands, many of which are exceptionally choice propositions. The firm writes fire insurance and negotiates loans on improved farm and town property. This is a very important part of the business.

Although this business was only established last May, Asley & Wilson have to their credit a large number of very important deals. They have thoroughly investigated the country and are personally familiar with all their offerings, and are in a position to give advice, whether the property is wanted for investment or for farming.

Mr. Asley and Mr. Wilson comprise the firm. Mr. Asley came here direct from the Old Country last April and Mr. Wilson was formerly connected with the firm of Asley & Shackle, of Calgary.

They are gentlemen of unquestioned integrity. They are members of the Board of Trade and their enterprise is evident from their interest in all matters pertaining to the welfare of Lacombe.

Collins & Nelson

This special number of the Western Globe, containing as it does a description of the resources and attractions of Lacombe, as well as its various business interests, will be read by many who have never visited this section of the country, and the question will be asked, "What has Lacombe to offer as inducements to people to locate or invest here?" This is a question that brings up such a wide range of thought, that the writer becomes bewildered in the accumulating field, and besides the information given in this special edition, would refer the reader to the Collins & Nelson Land Company, a company that is fully informed regarding Lacombe's wonderful resources and advantages. There is no better investment than Lacombe realty at present prices. There is no better land in the country for the price asked than that which surrounds Lacombe. An area of unprecedented growth in population with corresponding increase in building operations is about to mark the history of Lacombe. There will not be necessarily a boom, for this city is on the solid basis, while many values are simply below normal. Recent transactions in realty of Lacombe indicate the rapid growth and development of the western provinces; a growth that has been steady and along the most stable lines. In this respect Lacombe has been particularly fortunate.

Three of the country's great banking institutions, the Merchants Bank of Canada, The Union Bank and the Royal Bank have their branches here.

John Shilleto

Real Estate and Investment Brokerage.

One of the rising real estate and investment brokerage firms of Lacombe is that of John Shilleto, who established his business here a little less than six months ago. Mr. Shilleto has shown marked financial and executive ability, and has been successful in making some most profitable investments for his clients. Although he makes a specialty of farm lands, his listings also include many choice propositions in town property. He makes it a point to fully investigate each one of his offerings and is thoroughly familiar with his entire list of farm properties. Our best advice to the homesteader or investor is to consult with Mr. Shilleto and investigate his properties if interested in this country.

Lundy & Trimble

Real Estate, Loans and Insurance.

Messrs Lundy & Trimble are the pioneers of the real estate business in Lacombe, both gentlemen having been in business here for many years. They have listings on many of the most desirable farms in the district, and have this year closed many very large deals. They also do a large insurance and money loaning business.

Scott & Kitching

Messrs Scott & Kitching, who will be found in the Day Block, are progressive real estate and commission agents. They have on their lists a large number of close-in property, and buyers looking for something for subdivision purposes will do well to call on them. They also carry on a general commission and insurance business.

Lacombe's Financial Institutions

"As solid as the Rock of Gibraltar" is an expression that truly applies to Canadian banking institutions.

A soundness possible because of our banking system—the security of which is the interest of the public—renders geographical expansion easy by making each branch a source of benefit to those already existing. To our banks and their banking system belongs the credit for the rapid growth and development of the western provinces; a growth that has been steady and along the most stable lines. In this respect Lacombe has been particularly fortunate.

Three of the country's great banking institutions, the Merchants Bank of Canada, The Union Bank and the Royal Bank have their branches here.

great evolution of this country's banking since its incorporation in 1869. Today it has over 200 branches and enjoys the distinction of ranking third with the other banks of the Dominion in the number of branches, as well as in amount of assets. The assets of this bank now amount to over $105,000,000, and, according to their latest statement made to the Dominion Government, March 31st, 1911, the paid-up capital is $5,500,000 and the reserve fund $7,000,000; the total deposits amounted to $74,679,144.45; there were four dividends paid for 1910, the first three at the rate of 11 per cent. per annum, and the fourth at the rate of 12 per cent. per annum.

The people of Lacombe fully appreciate the important part this branch has destined to play in the upbuilding of Lacombe and the development of the surrounding country.

THE MERCHANTS BANK OF CANADA

This bank, which was incorporated in 1864, ranks as one of the largest and strongest financial institutions in the Dominion. It has 160 branches extending from the Atlantic to the Pacific, has a paid-up capital of $6,000,000, a reserve fund and undivided profits of $4,999,297 and total assets of $71,600,000.

In Lacombe the Merchants Bank opened their branch several years ago, and from its inception it has been a source of benefit to the community. It has fully realized the importance of this branch and the beneficial effects it has upon its trade and commerce, and they commendable spirit, and have been all along the years of Canadian development, fortifying factors in the growth and own welfare and the interests of Lacombe.

The local manager, Mr. A. Balcher, and his loyal staff, are at the service of the community, and are one of Lacombe's most sincere boosters, and are numbered among our most progressive citizens.

The Royal Bank also has a sub-branch at Bentley, which is under Mr. Quirk's supervision.

THE UNION BANK OF CANADA

The banks of Canada stand first in the financial institutions. Constructed on generous lines they are worked out in the most commendable spirit, and have been all along the years of Canadian development, fortifying factors in the growth and own welfare and the interests of Lacombe.

The Union Bank of Canada was incorporated in 1864, and now has a capital of over $5,000,000, and undivided profits of over $3,000,000, and total assets of $82,900,000.

Over one-half of the stockholders of this bank belong to the district west of Lake Superior. The Union Bank has a network of 240 branches extending throughout the Dominion.

The local manager, Mr. W. F. Graham, has proved himself an able exponent of the high principles that have ever governed the bank and worthy in every way of its best traditions. The bank occupies its own building, a beautiful brick structure, that is a credit to the town. It has contributed to the town as well as to the bank its largely and generously to the self.

THE ROYAL BANK OF CANADA

The Royal Bank of Canada, which established their branch in Lacombe last June, is an institution of which the people of the Dominion have a right to be proud. It has contributed to the town as well as to the bank its largely and generously to the self.

Our Business Men

When it comes to modern stores, up-to-date stores and up-to-date methods, the business people of Lacombe have no apologies to offer, for none are required.

Every line of business in the field of human endeavor is well represented, and although our business houses and uniformly prosperous, facilities for supplying our people with all the luxuries of life are ample, no less one gain the impression from anything said in this edition that we require more stores; but to the contrary, people to help till the soil is our great need.

A. Urquhart & Co.

There is hardly a man, woman or child in the Lacombe district that is not familiar with the name "Urquhart". It is a name that stands for much. It has become synonymous in this section with dependable merchandise and honest business methods. The store occupies one of the most pretentious business buildings in the town. The lines include groceries, dry goods, clothing, ladies' ready-to-wear clothing, house furnishings, ladies' and gents' furnishings—a department store in every sense of the term.

Mr. Andrew Urquhart, the head of this business is entitled to unlimited credit for the part he has played in the development of Lacombe as a trading centre. It is energetic men of Mr. Urquhart's calibre that are largely responsible for making the west what it is today. He has not only aided in the up-building of the town by his business activities, but also by the keen interest he has taken in public affairs. As a member of the town council and President of the Board of Trade, he has been a tireless worker for the welfare of Lacombe, and that his efforts and influence are appreciated by his fellow citizens is evident from the high esteem in which he is held by them.

A. M. Campbell

General Merchant. There is scarcely no firm that with the growth of Lacombe that A. M. Campbell, general merchant, has not been engaged in the mercantile business in Lacombe ten years ago, and for a decade has kept pace with the growth of the town, by his activities has aided in that growth, and by his business methods has made his name a household word throughout this section for high quality in merchandise.

Mr. Campbell does a wholesale as well as a retail business, and that is evidenced in his mammoth stock of groceries, dry goods, house furnishings, millinery, shoes, tinware, farm implements and kindred lines, besides which a dress-making department is conducted.

Although Mr. Campbell styles himself a "general merchant", his place of business is a department store in every sense of the word. The lines are complete, they are arranged in the most attractive and displayed in true department store manner. In fact this is an institution that would be a credit to a city many times the size of Lacombe. Some idea of the size of the store and the scope of its trade can be gleaned from the statement that in the store proper, there is over 10,000 square feet of floor space, this besides warehouse space in the basement and warehouse, and the staff consists of twenty people.

Mr. A. M. Campbell came here from Stratford, Ontario, ten years ago. He now ranks as the pioneer merchant of the town. He has always taken an active interest in public affairs, and as becomes a man of enterprise, can always be depended upon to give his aid in every movement having for its object the advancement of the community, either commercially or socially.

F. E. McLeod

General Merchant. The steady growth of Lacombe as a trading centre is due in a great measure to the men of energy, enterprise and business sagacity that comprise the merchants. Situated as it is, in the heart of the richest farming district in the world, it has remained for the merchants of Lacombe to provide a trading centre that is metropolitan in character, and no one has contributed more towards the up-building of the town in this respect than F. E. McLeod, dealer in groceries, dry goods, millinery, ladies' and gents' ready-to-wear clothing, furnishing, house furnishings, boots and shoes. In all there are eight departments in this store and lines are arranged in true department store manner. This firm has the agency for Art Tailoring firm made-to-measure clothing. In shoes, their leaders are Walker and Amberg shoes for men, and Empress shoes for women. In the grocery department, a full line of Tartan canned goods set the standard. The dressing department, which is another decidedly attractive feature of this institution, gives employment to a varying number of skilled hands. The clerical staff consists of eight people.

Mr. McLeod established his business here two years ago, and as a consequence of the superior selections and assortment of goods, favorable prices, and fair business methods, the trade of this establishment has steadily increased until today it holds a leading position among the mercantile institutions of Lacombe.

Mr. McLeod is not only an enterprising and progressive business man, but he also ranks as one of Lacombe's most public spirited citizens. He is a member of the town council; one of the Executive of the Board of Trade, and is prominently identified with every movement intended to advance the interests of this town.

C. B. Eggen

General Merchant. Railway St., Opposite New C. B. R. Station. In summing up Lacombe's importance as a great trading centre, special mention is due to Mr. C. B. Eggen, general merchant.

Mr. Eggen established his business here a little over a year ago, and it has prospered from its inception, a prosperity due to the fact that every line carried in his large stock of groceries, dry goods, boots and shoes, and ready-to-wear clothing, with only one consideration in view—quality. In his clothing department a feature is made of the famous P. H. H. line. In groceries he makes a specialty of "Lac" canned goods.

Mr. Eggen also has the agency for Robin Hood flour, in which he is well known. Thus he is an all-around quality that prevails in this establishment explains its success. A specialty is "Lac" made of catering to the U. P. A. and farmers' trade in general with special prices for goods in quantities. Mr. Eggen has been a resident of this section for the past eleven years. Prior to embarking in his present business he was engaged in farming, at which he was very successful. Mr. Eggen is a member of the Modern Woodmen of America. He is a widely known and popular Lacombe citizen, a natural optimist, and able business man.

A. J. McLaughlin

Groceries, Fruits, Confectionery, etc. Mr. McLaughlin purchased this business a little more than a year ago, and it has prospered under his ownership. The stock carried is large and well selected, and includes staple and fancy groceries, canned, bottled, boxed and tinned goods, laundry supplies, teas, coffees, fruits, vegetables, confectionery, etc. A soda fountain and ice cream parlor are popular features of this establishment. The "Store of Quality" is the slogan adopted by Mr. McLaughlin and that it governs the conduct of his business, is evident by the high quality of goods handled.

Mr. McLaughlin has been a resident of Lacombe for the past four years and of the province for eleven years. Although a native of Ontario, he came to Alberta from the States. Mr. McLaughlin is prominent in fraternal circles, being a member of the Odd Fellows, Modern Woodmen and the Ancient Order of United Workmen. The splendid growth of his business is sufficient evidence of his ability as a business man.

L. G. Beatty & Co.

Bakers and Grocers. Another business enterprise that is keeping pace with the development of Lacombe as a commercial centre, is that of L. G. Beatty & Company, bakers and grocers. This business was established last July and has enjoyed a wonderful growth. The bakery forms the most important department of their business, their stock of groceries, provisions, confectionery, and kindred lines is complete. A soda fountain and ice cream parlor are also attractive features of this establishment. The store is up-to-date in appearance and a model of perfect cleanliness. In the bake-shop, the equipment is the most modern known to the trade. None but the best and purest of ingredients enter into the products of this concern.

"The Best Only" is the slogan adopted by this firm early in its career and it is their aim to live up to it in every respect, and that they are succeeding is evident from their splendid patronage that makes it necessary to employ a working staff of six people.

The firm also does a line wholesale business in baked goods and ice cream, making daily shipments to towns north, east and south.

Mr. L. G. Beatty, the head of the firm, has been a resident of Lacombe for the greater part of seventeen years. He has had an extensive experience in the mercantile business which, no doubt has aided him greatly in developing his present undertaking. The firm's steady up-to-date, and the fact that it is ranked with our most progressive business men.

The Lacombe Meat Market

W. W. Lewis, Prop. Another Lacombe business house that is entitled to more than passing mention is the Lacombe Meat Market, a recently established enterprise that, judging by the manner in which the business is being conducted, is destined to become a model of perfect sanitation.

The concern handles a most complete line of prime fresh and salt meats, poultry, fish, etc. The stock is always up-to-date, and the market is a model of perfect sanitation. Patrons of this establishment can always rest assured of getting only the choicest meats, for which they need pay only very moderate prices.

Mr. W. W. Lewis, the proprietor of this business, came here last March from New Jersey. He is a native of England.

"Cleanliness and civility" are the watchwords that govern the conduct of his business, a policy that is no doubt responsible for the splendid trade.

Mr. Lewis is a clean-cut business man, and one who believes in giving full value for money received. He is a man who for they are the kind that help build up substantial communities and are a credit to their citizenship.

W. F. Puffer

Meats, Shipper and Retailer. One of the most important of our business interests is that of supplying the public with good wholesome meats, and we take pleasure in calling the attention of our customers to the wholesale and retail meat business carried on by that pioneer dealer, Mr. W. F. Puffer. For over sixteen years this firm has been supplying the people of Lacombe with the very choicest of meats, the justest cuts, as well as ham, bacon, salted and smoked meats of all kinds at prices as low as consistent with good quality.

Mr. Puffer does a large business in shipping stock, and besides his market he also operates a retail establishment at Alix. The local market occupies a modern brick structure recently completed, and is a model of perfect sanitation. The stock of the market is made of current for convenience in cleaning. The refrigerator plant in the market is one of the best in the province. In fact, the equipment includes all of the most modern devices for the handling and display of meats.

The killing plant and yards are located outside the town limits, and like the market, are complete in all appointments, including good cold storage facilities. The facilities at Alix include extensive yards and sorting pens, and a market that is also up-to-date in equipment. The staff of the local market consists of four people, with Mr. E. E. Cole as manager. Mr. Cole has occupied this position for the past seven or eight years, thoroughly understanding the business and is popular with the public. Mr. Puffer has been a resident of Alberta for twenty-two years. He first located in Oide, where he was engaged in business. About sixteen years ago he came to Lacombe and engaged in the lumber and implement business. Although successful in all his undertakings, he disposed of his lumber and implement business five years ago and has since continued his business operations in his live stock and meat business, and the management of his farms, of which he has two one half of 160 acres, about a mile from town, and another of 400 acres near Buffalo Lake. Mr. Puffer

Lacombe Drug Co.

There are few institutions in any community that rank ahead of the drug store in importance. A drug store whose patrons are absolutely sure that their prescriptions are accurately compounded and the ingredients used pure is very near ideal—such a store is that of the Lacombe Drug Company. Although only established last June, this store is considered one of the leading business houses of Lacombe.

This is a modern place of business in every respect. The stock is neatly arranged, every device being used to display to advantage. In the drug department the stock has a full complement of drugs and chemicals, patent medicines, including the famous McDermaid's preparations, surgical supplies, rubber goods, and such other lines as properly belong to this department. Other lines carried in this store include toilet articles, leather and art goods, in fact a full stock of goods.

The store is located in the Hotchkiss Block, on Nanton St., and the company is composed of L. W. Roark, President, and R. M. Collie, manager. Mr. Roark, formerly of Spokane, Wash., department is in charge of operations, and qualified pharmacist.

McDermaid Drug Co.

Wholesale and Retail. Age and reliability are important factors in determining the usefulness of any mercantile enterprise, and this is particularly true in the case of a drug store, in which purchasers are obliged to rely upon the skill and honor of the compounders of medicines upon which life or death may depend. The McDermaid Drug Company meets these requirements to an eminent degree. The minute you enter their store you feel that you are going to do business with a responsible house. There is an air of strength and reliability everywhere about the store. You are impressed with the size, variety and character of the stock, and you feel absolutely safe in dealing here.

The Creamery

This is, perhaps, one of Lacombe's most important enterprises; it certainly is from the dairyman's viewpoint. The creamery was formerly operated by the government who finally abandoned it after which it remained idle until taken over by Messrs. C. A. Anderson and H. V. Robinson, a year ago last June. It is a very attractive enterprise, and the proprietors making a fixed charge of four cents a pound for making and marketing the product. This is quite similar to the Government's method. However, while the Government would not give a check for less than two dollars and settled in full only twice a year, the Lacombe Creamery does not fix a minimum and settles in full on the 20th of every month. The Lacombe Creamery has upwards of 100 patrons and the number is constantly increasing. Mr. Anderson was for 18 years with his popular reputation as butter maker in the White Swan any hotel in this section.

creamery at Bowden, Alberta, and while there took a gold prize for both butter and cheese at the Dominion Exhibition, held at Calgary four years ago.

Messrs. Anderson and Robinson are prominent in fraternal circles, both being members of the I.O.O.F., and M. W. of A. Mr. Anderson came to the province seventeen years ago, from Idaho. Mr. Robinson came here twelve years ago from Michigan. The way in which they are building up their business is sufficient proof of their enterprise.

Lacombe Temperance Hotel

A. O. Davidson, Prop. The success of an hotel depends largely upon its reputation with the public, and that is gained through the ability of the management to meet the demand of guests in every detail. Such has been the fortune of the Lacombe Temperance Hotel, since the 20th of every month. The Lacombe Creamery has upwards of 100 patrons and the number is constantly increasing. Mr. Anderson was for 18 years with his popular reputation as butter maker in the White Swan any hotel in this section.

One Business Man

West & Hay

Month Head to Foot Outfitting and First-Class Tailors.

To this firm belongs the unique distinction of being the only store in town catering to men exclusively. They established their business about eighteen months ago, and coming to the present quality of their goods, this has become one of the leading business institutions of Lacombe.

Their stock includes such well known lines as Pitt Rivers, Brooks, Russell, Lane, Taylor, and others, and the original Slater suits.

In their tailoring department they turn out clothes that are, indeed, a credit to the establishment. They use none but the best of materials and employ only the most skilled workmen, consequently West & Hay-made clothes are correct in style and fit.

And their prices are no cause for complaint. They are reasonable, and long before the garments come to serve as a daily reminder that this is the store of style and quality—the store center for men—the store where a man always gets his money's worth.

The cleaning, pressing and repairing of men's clothes is another important branch of the business.

The firm is composed of Messrs. J. H. Watt and D. Hay. Their enterprise is reflected in the manner in which they conduct their business. Mr. Watt has been a resident of Lacombe for the past ten years. Mr. Hay for five years. Both men are entitled to rank among Lacombe's most successful business men and public spirited citizens.

D. Cameron

Merchant Tailor

Mr. D. Cameron established his tailoring business in Lacombe a little more than seven years ago and his business has prospered from the start. Mr. Cameron imports all foreign goods and works used in garments made by him. Camerons' clothes are easily recognized wherever they are worn. They have that distinctive air about them that is characteristic only of tailor built clothes that Mr. Cameron wears none but the best materials, and employs none but the most skilled workmen; consequently his products always represent the very acme of style and quality. His prices are very reasonable when the style and fit are taken into consideration.

Mr. Cameron carries a full line of ready-to-wear clothing and also a small agency for Laidley & Trimble, the well-known Toronto tailoring house.

The cleaning, pressing and repairing department is another important branch of the business. Some idea of the extent of business handled by this concern can be gathered from the fact that the working force consists of three men.

Lacombe Furniture Store

E. Titworth, Prop.

This is entitled to rank as one of Lacombe's leading business enterprises. Some idea of the immense stock carried by this firm can be gleaned from the statement that it consists of furniture of all kinds, organs and musical goods, carpets, linoleum, trunks, grips and suitcases. It requires 4,500 square feet of floor space to display this immense stock. All the lines are arranged in such a manner as to render inspection and selection easy.

The undertaking department is a very important branch of this business, and it fulfills all the requirements necessary in an up-to-date and progressive undertaking establishment.

So complete is every detail that on very short notice it can furnish a complete funeral, music, flowers, caskets, caskets, shroud, enshrouding, and all in the most perfect harmony and good taste, thus relieving the family of all unnecessary trouble and expense on the time when strength and composure are so essential. In fact, Mr. Raymond, the manager of this branch of the business, has made a study of his profession, aiming to do away with all those needless things that so many times add to the sorrow of the bereaved. Just how well he has succeeded is best known to those whose duty it has been to call upon this firm for its services.

Mr. E. Titworth, who became the proprietor of this business two years ago, has been a resident of Lacombe for the past many years, and for several years prior to coming to the present firm, was in the mercantile business in Lacombe. He is a member of the Modern Woodmen and the Masons. He is also receiving valuable service to this community as a member of the Town Council. An enterprising business man and a public spirited citizen, Mr. Titworth, enjoys the respect and esteem of all his fellow townsmen.

Mrs. G. G. Mobley

Millinery, Fancy Goods, etc.

Mrs. G. G. Mobley established her business in Lacombe eight years ago. Besides millinery, Mrs. Mobley also carries a very complete stock of hats, shoes and ladies' furnishings, china, ware and novelties.

The best dressed women in Lacombe are patrons of this establishment, as they realize the money value of correct dress. The store is known as the style center for ladies of Lacombe and the surrounding country. And after all it is only Mrs. Mobley's excellent taste that is reflected in her wonderful displays of ladies' wear, and to her belongs the credit for the popularity of this establishment. This store's business is constantly increasing. Mrs. Mobley's millinery openings are an annual event for the ladies of Lacombe. The Fall Opening was held last Tuesday and was attended by people from miles around.

A. W. Kent

Painter, Paperhanger, Decorator, etc.

Mr. Kent first engaged in business in Lacombe as a contracting painter and paperhanger thirteen years ago, and has since progressed to a community of a large measure of the artistic decorations of the interior of the business and residential buildings, credit must be given to the part he has played in keeping Lacombe well to the front in this respect.

Employment is given to an average of four men and this force is kept up with the demand for their services. Some of the most important contracts have been the painting and decorating of the Union and Merchants Bank, building on Adelaide Hotel, the Commercial Hotel, the Morrison & Johnston buildings.

The fact that Mr. Kent has had over fifty years of experience in his business, and the fact that he has been the owner of considerable other property. Although by birth an Englishman, he came here from Illinois. He has the highest regard for all Canadian institutions, shares with us our optimism as to the future, and has the respect and esteem of his fellow townsmen.

Lacombe Studio

B. S. Cameron, Prop.

A great many people express much regret because they did not have a good photograph of father, mother, or dear sons and daughters, and very often they are lost to them forever, having no true likeness of them to look upon in after years. This is a matter that should not be delayed, and you will find no better place than the studio of B. S. Cameron.

Mr. Cameron is both a portrait and commercial photographer. He is a thorough master of this applied art, and equally expert in both interior and exterior view work. Mr. Cameron does an extensive trade in souvenir post cards. His work in this line is of the very highest order, and many of his views are copyrighted.

Mr. Cameron also does retouching and finishing for amateurs. His studio is equipped with all the latest appliances for obtaining the very best class of views. The display of photos in his show window shows the superb quality of his artistic productions. Many of the best landscape engravings in this edition are reproductions of Mr. Cameron's work.

Mr. Cameron owes to Lacombe much from Winnipeg and established his business here in 1905. He has been a resident of Lacombe for the past five years, and has been a member of the Town Council. He is also receiving valuable service to this community as a member of the Town Council. An enterprising business man and a public spirited citizen, Mr. Titworth, enjoys the respect and esteem of all his fellow townsmen.

C. R. Denike

Watchmaker, Jeweler and Optician

Not the least of the many essential factors that enter into the progress and prosperity of any firm and flourishing community like Lacombe, is the influence exerted by such an up-to-date and progressive business as the one of C. R. Denike, watchmaker, jeweler, and optician. Mr. Denike established his business here in Lacombe five years ago, and from a very modest beginning he has built up a business that today stands on a monument to his foresight and industry. The store is a model establishment in every respect and the stock includes jewelry, silverware, cut glass, watches, diamonds and many other articles carried in the store of this character. Mr. Denike makes a specialty of jewelry manufacturing and engraving, as well as watch and jewelry repairing. He also conducts an optical department which is a very important feature of his business.

In watches, Mr. Denike carries Longines, Howard, Waltham, Elgin, and in fact all the leading makes. His large stock of diamonds is another feature of this establishment. He imports them loose, and does his own setting, effecting a saving which is shared with his customers.

"Quality and service" are the prime factors of this house and it is through the application of this slogan that Mr. Denike has been successful. Mr. Denike is most progressive, businesslike, and public spirited citizen. He is a member of the Board of Trade and takes a keen interest in all municipal affairs.

Geo. W. Holton

Jeweler

An up-to-date jeweler is indispensable to every community. Mr. Holton carries the lines usually found in a well stocked jewelry store.

Mr. Holton has always been an important feature of his business. He is a jeweler of exceptional skill and his patrons can absolutely depend on the quality of his work.

Mr. Holton established his business in Lacombe 11 years ago, and is therefore one of the pioneer business men of the town. He has always taken an active part in public affairs, and at the present time is serving his fourth year as a member of the town council. He has also served twice as director of the Agricultural Society.

F. L. Smith

Wholesale Wine and Spirit Merchant

It must be with a sense of extreme satisfaction that a business man like F. L. Smith can look back upon the four years immediately behind him, during which he has accompanied the town on the onward march. This business has gone through the ordeal of a four year test in its efforts to cater to the people of Lacombe and of the wide vicinity, and it is with extreme gratification that Mr. Smith finds his efforts acknowledged to be successful and respected with the best trade in the city and surrounding district. It is almost unnecessary to say that the success is attributable to the high quality of the wines, spirits and liquors of all kinds kept by him, secondly to the fact that all wines and liquors have to be fully certified as to age and purity before passing from his store to his customers, and thirdly the excellent methods of business, carried out with such promptness and precision.

Mr. Smith is a fervent believer in "Greater Lacombe". The store is located in the Day Block, and in it will be found the selection of wines, Calgary beer and a great variety of the leading brands of cigars and cigarettes.

Bowman-Sine Lumber Co.

Ranking among the leading concerns of the kind in this section of the province is the Bowman-Sine Lumber Company, Ltd. This concern which operates branch yards throughout Alberta and Saskatchewan, established the business in Lacombe five years ago, and the business handled by this yard has made a splendid increase in volume each year from the beginning. The Company carries a complete stock of lumber and building materials including sash, doors, mill work, roofing and building materials, and in fact everything in the line of building supplies. The success of this business is due very largely to the company's straightforward business methods which combined with the excellent quality of their lines, has won the confidence of the public and therefore a full share of its trade.

The yards are located on Nanaimo St. The plant is up-to-date in every respect and all work is under cover.

Mr. J. D. McCool is the manager in charge for the Bowman-Sine Lumber Company. He has had a wide experience in the lumber business and is thorough in all its various phases and requirements. And the splendid growth of this business is without doubt due in a large degree to Mr. McCool's thorough knowledge of the business.

Vickers-Murphy Lumber Co.

In all important lines of business there are houses that stand out prominently among the leaders. This because of their complete and thorough knowledge of their business, the satisfactory manner in which they perform their work, as well as because of the high quality of the attention of our customers to the Vickers-Murphy Lumber and Coal Co., who succeeded to the business of D. C. Gourley, a little over a year ago.

This concern handles a complete line of lumber, mill work, sash, doors, and in fact everything in building materials. They also handle coal and wood. The Vickers-Murphy Lumber and Coal Co. enjoy the reputation of giving everyone a square deal. They handle nothing but the best in their lines and contractors and builders know from experience that they can absolutely depend upon getting what they want at a square deal from this yard.

The company is composed of Messrs. G. P. Vickers and A. D. Murphy. Besides their lumber business, both are heavily interested in farm and town property. They are prominent in internal circles, Mr. Vickers being a member of the Odd Fellows and the Modern Woodmen, and Mr. Murphy of the Moose and the Order of the Odd Fellows. Mr. Vickers came here from Nebraska, and Mr. Murphy from Nova Scotia. Both gentlemen take a keen interest in all public affairs.

W. L. Elliott

Harness and Saddlery

A chain is no stronger than its weakest link—a harness is no stronger than its weakest part—thus we can see how much it depends upon the honesty and skill of the harness maker.

Mr. W. L. Elliott established his harness business in Lacombe seventeen years ago, and his record in one of his any business man might well be proud. Not only is Mr. Elliott one of the pioneer business men of Lacombe, but he is also one of its most substantial citizens. Each of the seventeen years since this business was established, has brought an increase in volume, and not without a good cause. None but the most skilled workmen are employed, and only the best of materials are used. All work is subject to the most rigid inspection before it leaves the shop. In short all work is done upon honor, and as a consequence, this concern has won the confidence and trade of harness buyers and users throughout this section of Alberta.

Mr. Elliott's stock which is large and varied, includes harness, saddles, trunks, travellers' supplies, etc. Goods are well displayed and the store is a model in arrangement. The equipment of the harness shop is thoroughly up-to-date. Steady employment is given to three harnessmakers, and this is considered one of the sterling institutions in Lacombe.

Lacombe Garage

With the advent of the automobile into the business life of a community, there naturally thoroughly reliable. The repair shop is in charge of an expert and there is no part but what they can repair. They also have the agency for the famous Oakland machine. Mr. P. W. Rubbra is the manager of the Lacombe Garage. Mr. Rubbra came here from Carstairs, and he came to Alberta from Montreal. He is an expert mechanic, thoroughly understands every phase of the business.

O. Boode

New and Second-Hand Goods

Another Lacombe business enterprise that is entitled to more than passing mention, is that of O. Boode. Mr. Boode's line consists of new and second-hand household goods, hardware, harness, musical instruments, sewing machines, jewelry, etc. He is also agent for the Columbia Graphophones and carries a full stock of records. The picture-framing department is another important phase of his business. In addition to his mercantile lines, Mr. Boode is an extensive real estate dealer. Prior to engaging in his present business, he was the proprietor of the Royal Hotel, which was destroyed by fire some time ago.

Lacombe Brick, Tile & Cement Co.

One of the most important factors in the growing demand for this necessary accommodation, was the establishment of the business known as the Lacombe Garage, last May, and the success which has attended his venture has proved his wisdom. The lively department is kept busy supplying the demand for conveyances, and their autos, and drivers are

ing. The annual output runs about 600,000 brick and employment is given to an average of twelve men. The product finds a ready sale, both at home and in the neighboring cities, including Stettin, Cochrane, Ponoka, Camrose and Wainwright. Not only is the quality of this common brick superior as to uniform strength, but the color is unusually good. The officers of the Lacombe Brick, Tile and Cement Company Ltd., are A. D. Murphy, President, and Frank Vickers, Secretary-Treasurer. Both gentlemen are numbered among Lacombe's most progressive business men. Mr. Vickers was one of the original promoters of the enterprise and was the company's first president.

Adelphi Pool Room

J. T. McInnis, Prop.

This is a model place of amusement that justly merits the liberal patronage with which it is favored. The pool tables are kept in the best of condition, cushions are lively, and true balls and straight tipped cues add to the satisfaction of playing. In the front of the room is a fine line of imported and domestic cigars and tobacco of the leading brands as well as pipes and other smokers' supplies. Mr. McInnis, the proprietor of the pool room, has made his place of amusement popular by conducting it in an orderly manner and catering only to the very best class of trade. The result is that this institution is a credit to the town as well as to its proprietor.

McGowan & Johnston

Among the most substantial business houses of Lacombe is that of McGowan & Johnston, Ltd., dealers in hardware, furniture, and other household goods. The firm has been in business here for many years, and has built up a large and well-assorted stock of goods and heavy hardware, and have in connection a splendidly equipped tin shop, where they are a specialty for furnace work and plumbing.

Their stock of farm implements is complete in every line, and in addition they carry a full line of haying, cutting and mowing machinery. In furniture nothing but the very highest class goods are handled, and the very latest in home decorations will be found there.

A large and well-assorted stock of sporting goods is also carried, guns, rifles, ammunition, etc., in fact everything for the hunter and trapper.

The firm are located in their own two-story solid brick stone building next door to the post office, on Banquet Ave.

H. L. Brown

Farm Implements
Probably no one thing has had more to do with the rapid development and prosperity of the country than the use of improved farm machinery, enabling the tiller of the soil to greatly multiply the product of his labor. The leading headquarters in this section for farm machinery of all kinds, farming tools, dairy supplies, and vehicles is the establishment conducted by H. L. Brown in Lacombe. Mr. Brown took over the business four years ago.

The lines for which he has the local agency include Massey-Harris farm implements, Harrie and Gray-Cumpley buggies, cutters, mowing mills, scales and kitchen cabinets; Olds gasoline engines, harness, windmills, electric grain crushers, etc.

Mr. Brown also has the agency for the celebrated Heintzman Company pianos.

The office and warehouse is located on Banquet Ave. and just across the tracks from the old C.P.R. depot. The warehouse is a modern structure and the lines which are complete, are displayed to the best advantage.

Frank McLeary

"All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." Innocent amusement is as necessary to the scheme of human affairs as labor, and it is a pleasant thing to spend an afternoon or evening in going into a well equipped and comfortable theatre, where you can see a fine play or a good musical comedy. The Adelphi Hotel, which is one of the best of its kind in the west, is a fine example of the modern hotel. The building is of brick construction and is very nearly fireproof. The theatre has a seating capacity of 600 people. An attractive feature of the house is the arrangement of the boxes in the balcony. The stage and scenery are strictly modern and fully meet all requirements of the most travelling show companies. There are four dressing rooms and contrary to the usual order of things, in even some of the very largest show houses, they are well furnished, well lighted, absolutely clean and are conveniently located. It is the uniform expression of show people visiting Lacombe that the Adelphi is a model playhouse, and a credit to the town as well as to its owner and builder, Mr. Richard Shillito. There are no dark nights at the Adelphi, when the road shows do not occupy the boards, a continuous moving picture entertainment is given, each evening, starting about 8 o'clock. Over 3,000 feet of film are shown at each performance, and the program is changed every night.

Adelphi Hotel

Mr. Simpson, Prop.
No feature is better calculated to give a favorable impression of a city or community than good hotel accommodations; and in this respect Lacombe is highly favored. To compare a handsome current block which is located on the most prominent corner in the city. The building is modern in every respect and is equipped with all of the facilities essential to the comfort and convenience of guests. The furnishings are elegant; in the dining room the cuisine is of the best and the service is unsurpassed.

Mr. Simpson only recent took possession of the Adelphi. He is originally from the Maritime Provinces, where he was connected with, at different times, several of the leading hotels. His business ability is manifest in his conduct of the Adelphi. Although a newcomer, he has already become innominate with Lacombe boosting him, and as thus entitled to rank with those who, by their enterprise and initiative, are aiding in the up-building of a "Greater Lacombe."

F. V.

Among the many business enterprises which go to make up the sum total of Lacombe's importance as a commercial centre, the Eclipse Pump Works, of which Mr. F. V. Parsons is the proprietor, occupy an important position, although established here a little less than four months ago. The plant is located on Nanton St. and besides installing pumps and water fittings, is also equipped to do general repair of all kinds, including wood as well as iron work.

Another important line with this concern is the manufacture of all order of steel rod fences, for confinement, and other public properties. A full stock of pipe, fittings, valves and all supplies required in this line is carried.

Mr. Parsons has had ten years' experience in the construction of fences in the Old Country, which enabled him to handle his present business in the best of advantage.

Comet Theatre

We doubt very much if there is a town in Western Canada the size of Lacombe that has a playhouse that can compare with "The Comet" either in size or elegance of appointment. This beautiful house of amusement was completed a little more than a year ago. The building is of brick construction and is very nearly fireproof. The theatre has a seating capacity of 600 people. An attractive feature of the house is the arrangement of the boxes in the balcony. The stage and scenery are strictly modern and fully meet all requirements of the most travelling show companies. There are four dressing rooms and contrary to the usual order of things, in even some of the very largest show houses, they are well furnished, well lighted, absolutely clean and are conveniently located. It is the uniform expression of show people visiting Lacombe that the Comet is a model playhouse, and a credit to the town as well as to its owner and builder, Mr. Richard Shillito. There are no dark nights at the Comet, when the road shows do not occupy the boards, a continuous moving picture entertainment is given, each evening, starting about 8 o'clock. Over 3,000 feet of film are shown at each performance, and the program is changed every night.

W. G. Sage

Mr. Sage is also an extensive dealer in horses. The business gives employment to three people, and the Rumley stage makes this barn their Lacombe station.

Mr. Sage has been a resident of this section for the past seven years, and is therefore entitled to rank as a pioneer. He is a member of the Canadian Order of Foresters and is a member of the Lacombe representative citizens. His father, James Sage, owns a 320 acre farm located eighteen miles southeast of Lacombe. Mr. Sage says: "We came here from Winnipeg seventeen years ago, and there has never been a time that we regretted the move. In my opinion, there are more opportunities here for people of little or no means, than in any other section of the world. My advice to young men of the east is to come as quick as he can, and by helping in the development of the country, share in the benefits that are bound to come."

P. H. Winter

The Arcade Livery
A review of the business interests of Lacombe and vicinity would not be complete without reference to this establishment. This is a modern institution, conducted along modern lines. The horses are always in good condition and the rolling stock is strictly up-to-date. Owners of horses left here to be fed can always rest assured that their stock will receive the very best of care.

W. N. McDermott

Another Lacombe enterprise that is a credit to its owner, is the Alberta Livery Stables, of which Mr. W. N. McDermott, is proprietor. The Alberta Livery is a model for comparison of equipment, which consists of thirty head of horses that are in the very best of condition and rolling stock that is strictly up-to-date. A day or night service is provided and teams can be engaged at any time on very short notice. The equipment also includes an automobile for livery purposes, and a very much appreciated by the traveling public. In addition to his livery business, Mr. McDermott conducts a dray service and does a general contracting business in heavy hauling and team work. His employees in all departments, the number varying, of course, with the requirements of the business.

Fred Taylor

General Blacksmith
Another blacksmith who has worked up an inevitable reputation for reliable blacksmithing is Fred Taylor, who for several years has conducted an up-to-date shop here. He makes a specialty of horse shoeing, and is also a first-class wood worker. If you have any shoeing that requires more than ordinary care, do not fail to give Mr. Taylor a trial. His shop is located between Alberta and Nanton Streets, just behind the Government Telephone Exchange.

H. Gottschlich

General Blacksmith
When in need of first class workmanship in the wood or iron work line do not overlook H. Gottschlich, whose shop is located on Railway St. Mr. Gottschlich has been a resident of Lacombe for many years, and has worked up a reputation for reliable work. Mr. Gottschlich is also one of the foremost musicians of Alberta, and for four years was leader of the Lacombe Brass Band, in addition to conducting an orchestra.

John McNab

Blacksmith
Another of Lacombe's enterprises that is entitled to more than passing mention is the blacksmithing business of John McNab. "Efficiency" in the watchword which has governed the conduct of this business from its inception. Horse shoeing, wagon repairing and general blacksmithing business have principal lines of endeavor carried on in this establishment. None but the most skillful workmen are employed; only the very best materials are used and all work is done strictly upon honor. Mr. McNab is probably the most expert horse shoeer in Lacombe. It is just such enterprisers as this that reflect the skill and honesty of their owners and stand as a lust mark of progress.

Lacombe Iron Works

A. D. Watson, Prop.
One of the most important institutions in Lacombe is the Lacombe Iron Works, operated by A. D. Watson. This concern arose from doing a general blacksmithing, wagon and carriage making business, have up-to-date iron foundry where castings of any description are turned out in first-class style. The business is increasing with the country, and is of great benefit to the residents of this part of Alberta.

Victoria Barber Shop

Speaking from the viewpoint of efficiency and service. The Victoria Barber Shop, of which Mr. W. Reid is the proprietor, is an institution that would be a credit to a place many times the size of Lacombe. Mr. Reid and his assistants thoroughly understand the science of the art-torial. Their razors are keen, sharp, and sanitary arrangements perfect. For a good, clean shave, an artistic haircut, a shampoo, or a massage, there is no better place to go than to the Victoria Barber Shop. Mr. Reid is to be complimented on the high class manner in which he conducts his business. That this establishment is appreciated by the people of Lacombe is evident from the fact that the business is constantly increasing, and consists of the very best class of trade.

O. K. Barber Shop

M. B. McDonald, Prop.
"If cleanliness is next to Godliness" then the "O. K." Barber Shop is a first class place to patronize, for it is certainly one of the cleanest and neatest shops to be found in the province. It is located on Nanton St. near the centre of the business district, and is convenient for business men and enjoys a liberal share of their patronage. The shop is thoroughly up-to-date in its equipment, none but the most skilled barbers are employed and methods in vogue are strictly modern.

American Hotel

W. E. Collins, Prop.
The American Hotel (formerly known as the "O. K.") is a first class establishment, well equipped for business men and enjoys a liberal share of their patronage. The hotel is thoroughly up-to-date in its equipment, none but the most skilled waiters are employed and methods in vogue are strictly modern.

RIMBEY

Thirty-six miles northwest of Lacombe, on the banks of the Blindman River is located one of the most progressive inland villages in the province of Alberta. Eight years ago Rimbeys was scarcely more than a name and the surrounding country a wilderness of bush. Today Rimbeys is the trading centre for a farming country that stands second to none for productive-ness.

The business interests of the town include a hotel, a general merchandise store, blacksmith shop and implement house, three real estate dealers, a creamery and a livery and feed stable. A church provides for the religious welfare of the community and a school with an average daily attendance of forty-five pupils, meets all the requirements of such an in-stitution.

The Modern Woodmen of America have a thrifty lodge of sixty members and add much to the social life of the community. The importance of Rimbeys as a trading centre can be gleaned from the fact that the territory tributary extends fifty miles westward, and as Bentley is twenty miles south, it shares with the latter the trade of that prosperous section lying between the two villages. Under the impetus of bumper crops, the most season has been an exceptionally good one for the people of this country.

constantly increasing bank ac- counts of these whose good fortune it is to be numbered among the farmers of this favored district.

Thus the Lacombe district in general this is a mixed farming district and the fields here set the standard for the country. Oats, barley, rye, spring and winter wheat and potatoes do well in this country season after season, and crop failure is absolutely unknown. Owing to the distance from the railroad, dairying and stock raising are

The story of the prosperity of Rimbeys and surrounding district merely goes to show the possibilities of this section, which is in the infancy of its development. With the advent of the proposed electric line from Lacombe to Rimbeys, this will no doubt become known throumaster and the post office oc- cupies a portion of the store.

Dependable goods, reasonable prices, and clean-cut business methods, are the factors re- sponsible for the rapid growth of their business.

Mr. Thorp is an energetic business man and a public spirited citizen who can be depended upon at all times to support any movement intended to advance the welfare of his community.

Wood & Peabody

Besides owning and conduct- ing the hotel at Rimbeys, Wood & Peabody also have the feed stables, the public hall, operate a blacksmith shop and handle farm implements.

The hotel is a model of com- fort and a most agreeable stop- ping place. This is under the personal supervision of Mr. W. S. Wood, the senior member of the firm. Mr. F. A. Peabody, the junior member, gives his attention to the blacksmith and implement business.

The equipment of the shop is complete for doing all kinds of blacksmithing, horse shoeing and general repair work. They handle the Jamesville and Mo- line plows, Kentucky drills, Evans disc harrows, and the well known Mandt wagons. Every branch of their business en- joys a splendid patronage and by their success, Messrs. Wood & Peabody are contributing fully their share towards the upbuilding of the town.

James Rimbeys

James Rimbeys and his two brothers, B. T. and S. N. Rim- bey, came to this country in 1900, and by reason of their being pioneer settlers here, are rightly regarded as the founders of the town. All three brothers own land close to the village. Mr. James Rimbeys's home and farm buildings are located in the heart of the town and it is his present intention to sub- divide a portion of his farm into village lots. His farm consists of 160 acres of as fine land as there is in the province of Al- berta. During the past season he cut thirty-five acres of tim-othy that averaged fully two and one-half tons to the acre. He also had 115 acres of oats and barley which was generally con- ceded to be one of the heaviest crops in Blindman River Val- ley. Mr. Rimbeys has recently opened a real estate office and in the future intends giving a considerable portion of his land to the realty business. He has a large listing of both im- proved and unimproved farm property, and many of his prop- erties are exceedingly attrac- tive.

Mr. Rimbeys also has the agency for the "Peace Maker" flour which is the product of the Daner Milling Co. of Lacombe. By reason of his experience as a farmer and his unquestionable integrity, Mr. Rimbeys's success in his new undertaking is prac- tically assured.

An English Chemist Has Dis- covered How to Grow Hair.

In England the ladies have entirely abandoned wearing rats, which is due entirely to this new discovery.

It has been proven that Hon- na leaves contain the ingredient that will positively grow hair. That they contain this long- looked-for article is proven ev- ery day.

The Americans are now plac- ing on the market a prepara- tion containing the extract from Hanna leaves, which is having a phenomenal sale.

This preparation is called SALVIA, and is being sold with a guarantee to cure dand- ruff and to grow hair in abun- dant. Being daintily perfumed, SALVIA makes a most pleas- ant hair dressing. The Lacombe Drug Co., your druggist, is the first to import this prepara- tion into Lacombe, and a large generous bottle can be purchas- ed for 50c. (1.)

THE EXHIBITION

Editor Western Globe.

I have been looking into the last issue of the Globe hoping that some one with a more facile pen than mine, would have replied to Mr. Ledingham's letter in the former issue, but in vain. He would make some radical changes, one of which would agree with him, and that is having the names of the exhibitors put up on the stalls for the cattle and horses, and the names of the prize-winners in the hall shown after the exhibition is judged. With regard to having two judges for the horses and cattle, we would have to consult the Government as to that, because they supply the judges and pay them so much per day and travelling expenses. Now the travelling expenses would come so much higher that they might kick against paying so much for a one-day fair. If they were getting any local judges the travelling expenses would not come so heavy but then some of the exhibitors would not think they would get justice from a local man and think they would be better with one from a distance, according to the old proverb "Far fowl have fair feathers." With regard to exhibitors not coming forward for the two days' fair, there is another old saying "Where there is a will there is a way," and if they were very anxious to exhibit they would try and come forward for the two days. As to the penalty he would impose, I think it would be a little too hard on some of the exhibitors that have a large number of entries both in horses and cattle, to get them all out to the parade. A gate keeper could easily be up pointed for the first day and thus get the drawing for the two days. Hoping some other person better gifted with the gab will come forward and hold up the two days' fair.

I am,
An interested
Member.

TEACHERS' CONVENTION

We respectfully submit the following as a brief account of the Teachers' Convention held at Ponoka, October 19 and 20.

The first paper was by Inspector Thibault. He brought out the following points: The dull child at school is compensated by other abilities. The dull boy at college makes $3,000 a year selling sales. The professor makes $1200 a year. He said that the average salary of the rural district here is $720.00. He also said that $22,000, the difference between the life earnings of an educated man and an uneducated man, represents the value of an education. That is, every day at school means $10 to a child.

Mr. Reid, in his paper on physiology said: Disease and its prevention cannot be understood without studying the cell. Knowledge is based on experience. Therefore a microscope is necessary in the schools.

Inspector McNally, on literature advised the intensive teaching of literature in Standard III.

Inspector Scott on Nature Study advised study from Nature outside the school.

The Convention was the loser by the absence of Principal Caruthers, who was to speak on the Grade System.

Supt. McCaig, speaking on Geography, associated it with Nature Study and advocated taking the pupils outside.

Last of all Inspector Thibault read our minds of all prejudice against returning schooling.

The following is a list of the officers elected for the ensuing year:

Hon. Pres.—Mayor Gordon.
President—Mr. V. Reid.
Vice-Pres.—Miss E. K. Stuey.
Secy.—Miss Rose.

DEARTH OF CATTLE

"All this talk of securing cattle from Montana to eat up our enormous stock of fodder is nonsense. I have travelled over that country and know what I am talking about and I want to say that there is a greater dearth of cattle here than here and they have also abundance of feed in Montana." remarked a well known cattle buyer in the High River Times.

"It was a great mistake for our ranchers to spray their herds as they did a few years ago. In Alberta today we require thousands of head of breeding cattle and these must be imported at great cost to supply the demand. Personally I have taken advantage of the situation and will make good for me. I have several hundred head on my ranch and the demand is simply enormous, but I am going to hold on to them. Several years ago the same conditions prevailed in Manitoba, farmers were wheat crazy and those who stayed with mixed farming are today in a position to spend their winters in southern California. It's a mistake to be too exclusive. Mixed farming is the only safe proposition in Alberta."

DEMAND FOR MULES

The Canadian Northern Railway has a large construction work in progress in the Province of Ontario. Sir William Mackenzie was greatly impressed with the useful qualities of the Mexican mules which are used in his mines in Mexico. The profitable occupation. It would be highly interesting to see the experiment in the United States, Oregon, Washington of the Dakotas could well afford to make this experiment in taxation, since their population is being drained away to Canada, partly because of the advantages afforded by the natural tax system of Vancouver and Alberta.

It is claimed that because this natural method of taxation prevails in the city of Vancouver, over the line in British Columbia, there has been a steady drain to that place from Seattle, Wash. The Canadian Immigration office at Ottawa claims its official records show that immigration into Canada from the State of Washington has jumped from 4,000 in 1907, to 7,500 the next year, to over 9,000 in 1909, and to nearly 18,000 in 1910. This loss from the American side to Canada is due to the natural method of taxation in effect over there, the American northwest States try out this tax system the better.—Orange Judd Farmer.

dustry in the Brazeau mines by which the coal would be reduced to coke and its by-products. The company has two claims, one at Brazeau and one at Twilvie.

The latter plant may be established in Winnipeg for breaking up the tar into its by-products, and the mines a large number of men will be employed.

TAXATION

The town of Lloydminster lies half in the province of Alberta and half in the province of Saskatchewan. Under the laws of Alberta nothing is taxed that can move, and only land values are taxed. The province of Saskatchewan, like most of our States, seeks to tax everything movable or immovable, real or personal. "Hence everything in Lloydminster," Saskatchewan, that can move without sacrificing more than the advantage in taxation amounts to, moves over to the Alberta side.

This improvement upon the so-called single tax has come to be known as the natural method of taxation, or nature's way. It may be all right, so far as the land is fairly assessed for taxation. Under this system the farmers' taxes should be assessed only on the basis of their fair rental value, or earning power, while town and city property would be assessed relatively much higher. The rate would be about 10 per cent. on other investments, and personal property, all go free of tax.

The scheme seems to work all right in that new country, where agriculture is the basis of the profitable occupation. It would be highly interesting to see the experiment in the United States, Oregon, Washington of the Dakotas could well afford to make this experiment in taxation, since their population is being drained away to Canada, partly because of the advantages afforded by the natural tax system of Vancouver and Alberta.

It is claimed that because this natural method of taxation prevails in the city of Vancouver, over the line in British Columbia, there has been a steady drain to that place from Seattle, Wash. The Canadian Immigration office at Ottawa claims its official records show that immigration into Canada from the State of Washington has jumped from 4,000 in 1907, to 7,500 the next year, to over 9,000 in 1909, and to nearly 18,000 in 1910. This loss from the American side to Canada is due to the natural method of taxation in effect over there, the American northwest States try out this tax system the better.—Orange Judd Farmer.

JUDGMENT RESERVED IN GIRVIN CASE

Ottawa, October 19.—In the Supreme Court today, the criminal appeal of Girvin vs. the King was heard. The appellant was charged with the murder of a general store at Lacombe, Alberta and on trial before Justice Stewart, at Red Deer, Alta. she was convicted and sentenced to imprisonment for life in the penitentiary. On the conclusion of the case for the crown, the counsel for the accused moved the discharge of the prisoner on the ground that there was not sufficient evidence to go to a jury. The trial judge refused the application, and the evidence for the accused was adduced. The case was given to the jury, and a verdict of guilty was returned. On a case reserved the ruling of the trial judge was affirmed on an equal division of opinion among the judges of Alberta. Justices Harvey and Simmons supporting the conviction and Justices Scott and Beak dissenting.

The questions of appeal are: (1) Was the trial judge right in refusing to withdraw the case from the jury? (2) Was evidence sufficient to justify a verdict against the prisoner. Judgment was reserved.

He has been in Lacombe for several years and has a high reputation for fair dealing.

SUPPER AND CONCERT

The chicken supper given in Mobley's Hall by the Ladies Guild of St. Cyril's Church on Wednesday evening last was a very successful one, and the hall was crowded to its utmost capacity during the entire evening.

The supper was a feature of the evening and the two large tables laden with innumerable good things, catered most successfully to the desires of all who were so fortunate as to avail themselves of a place at a new chicken feast.

The Rev. Pastors occupied the chair and announced a program which was well rendered indeed, several items reaching

BENTLEY OLIVE

The Royal Bank of Canada
BENTLEY, ALBERTA
Sub-branch to Lacombe
EDWARD J. O'NEIL, Manager

A light snowstorm is delaying threshing operations at present writing.

Mrs. Dameron and son Harry and wife, of near Olive, are spending a few weeks with the Dameron Bros. here.

Don't forget to see W. Lohman, sale near McPherson's Mill and Lockhart P.O., Thursday of this week.

E. T. Bradshaw, of Wittenburg, has leased a part of the W. B. McPherson house for the winter. He is moving a part of his family out to get the children to school.

J. C. Blah has rented the J. B. McPherson house for the winter and will give his children the advantages of the Bentley school through the coming winter.

The past week has been a great week for Bentley home-coming. On Thursday J. W. Thorp and family, who have spent the summer visiting in England, arrived. Mr. and Mrs. A. Bullock returned home on Friday from Nebraska, where they have spent the past year at their old home; and E. H. Mills returned on Saturday after a summer's work west of Leduc.

F. W. Thorp has more yarns to spin than a hunter or fisherman who had just returned from a trip to the Rockies, and moreover, we believe more than half that he tells us. Frank had a seat in the Abbey during the coronation, which many a wealthy Englishman would have given a great deal to have had, and his account of his travel and visits to Brussels and Paris, we think, would rival those of Jack Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. Bullock have taken up their residence at the Alexandra Hotel. Mr. Bullock is helping Mr. J. P. McPherson at the pool hall.

DIED—At the home of E. O. Good, on Friday afternoon, October 20th, Melvin Richard, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Good, aged one year and one month, of infantile paralysis. The bereaved parents and family have the sincere sympathy of the entire community. The funeral services were conducted at the Methodist Church at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon, by the Rev. H. R. Haddon, and the remains laid to rest in the Bentley cemetery.

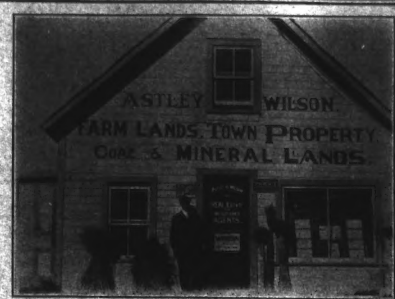

Turkey supper at the restaurant Saturday, October 23.

C. McCarty, of Nebraska, has been visiting at the home of B. Schwendner, this week.

Threshing is in the order of the day. Lots of grain teams coming into town.

The Orchestra Band was a success. There was a nice crowd present.

The weather! It is not so warm as it might be; everyone wants a coal fire.

We are sorry to hear that Rev. R. H. Shoup and wife are leaving us, being appointed to Edmonton to preach the following year.

W. M. Withers has been confined to the house with a touch of lumbago, but is better at time of writing.

Mrs. D. P. Ames has been visiting her daughter Mrs. Fletcher, of Lacombe. Mrs. Fletcher returning with her on Saturday.

J. Rath, J. Verne, H. P. Withers and J. Elstner were in a bunch of cattle to Dunsmuir, B.C., this week.

H. Elliott returned home on the 16th from working on the roads with Hunt's crew.

Mrs. Nora Withers has been visiting her sister, Mrs. G. W. Hoppelshausen, of Lockhart.

Mrs. Alice Whilleto has been visiting her friends, Misses Phena and Anna Shoup, of Wittenburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Chaland and babies returned home from Southern Alberta on the 12th. Mr. F. Laverton and family moved into their new home.

Mr. J. Berry is building a shack on his homestead.

Mr. E. T. Bradshaw made a flying visit to Bentley, returning home on Monday 16th.

CHICKEN SUPPER

The chicken supper given in the Methodist Church on Wednesday evening last, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid society, was a grand success in every sense of the word.

A very pleasing feature which was in evidence throughout the evening was the smile of happiness and satisfaction expressed upon the countenances of all who were present. Mr. Peché was next called upon to entertain the gathering which he did in a very able manner. He generally complied with the request for two readings entitled "Getting Even With Mother" and "The Black Horse and His Rider" which was well received. He then, by request, recited "Mr. Brown, Get Your Hair Cut" which was most entertaining, and he was again encored, replying with a sentimental reading entitled "It's Got To Be."

A chorus by a class of six, composed of Opal Danner, Nelly Titworth, Lela Titworth, Anna Reeves, Douglas Puffer and Walter Barker, accompanied by Miss Miesner, was well rendered and received hearty applause from the large and appreciative audience.

The reading by Miss Bernice Bailey entitled "The Book Agent and the Merchant" was well received, and upon her return recited a short poem which was also well received.

A male quartette composed of Messrs. Schatzler, Young, Penny, and accompanied by Mr. Robinson, very ably rendered "The Old Onion Basket" which was enthusiastically encored. The encore entitled "Sweet Adeline" was equally as well rendered and received most hearty applause.

Last, but not the least entertaining was the reading given by Mr. Killam, and entitled "The Ship of Faith" created much laughter and applause which continued for some time after he left the platform.

A splendid program had been prepared for the occasion and immediately after supper the chairman for the entertainment called the gathering to order and announced the program in the order following:

Duet by Lela and Nelly Titworth, "The Ship to Poppy Land," accompanied by Miss Helen Titworth, (encore) "Sister Lullaby." Both selections were very pretty indeed and were most heartily applauded.

The second item on the program provided for remarks by the chairman, Rev. Lode, who, after relating an anecdote on "The Unfiling Poison," called upon Mr. Hutton, Sr., to deliver an address. Mr. Hutton took for his topic "Sunday School Work" which he outlined briefly. His address embraced the most important features in the workings of the Sunday School, and had an air which is common only to those closely connected with Sunday School work and a close observer of it in all its phases. At the close of his address Mr. Hutton extended a cordial invitation to all to attend the Sunday School from Sunday to Sunday in future, which invitation, after the audience had expressed their satisfaction, was corroborated by the chairman.

Mr. Peché was next called upon to entertain the gathering which he did in a very able manner. He generally complied with the request for two readings entitled "Getting Even With Mother" and "The Black Horse and His Rider" which was well received. He then, by request, recited "Mr. Brown, Get Your Hair Cut" which was most entertaining, and he was again encored, replying with a sentimental reading entitled "It's Got To Be."

A chorus by a class of six, composed of Opal Danner, Nelly Titworth, Lela Titworth, Anna Reeves, Douglas Puffer and Walter Barker, accompanied by Miss Miesner, was well rendered and received hearty applause from the large and appreciative audience.

Last, but not the least entertaining was the reading given by Mr. Killam, and entitled "The Ship of Faith" created much laughter and applause which continued for some time after he left the platform.

W. G. SAGE'S LIVERY STABLE, LACOMBE

The audience rose and sang "God Save The King" after which the chairman dismissed the gathering with a single word: "Good-by."

"Don't trifle with a cold" is good advice for prudent men and women. It may be vital in case of a child. There is nothing better than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for coughs and colds in children. It is safe and sure. For sale by dealers everywhere.

THE VALUE OF SMALL SAVINGS

If a young man 15 years of age were determined to save three cents a week, and to pay the fifteen cents thus saved every week until he was 60 to the Canadian Government for the purchase of an annuity, the result of his thrift would be that from and after 60 he would receive $25.18 every three months so long as he lived. If he died before he was 60 all that he had paid in with three per cent. compound interest would be refunded to his heirs, and if he died just before his first instalment of annuity fell due his heirs would inherit $771.70. A postcard sent to the Superintendent of Canadian Annuities, Ottawa, giving your age last birthday, will secure you information as to what an Annuity will cost.

THE CENSUS

The census figures just made public show that during the last ten years the population of Canada increased by practically a third. The actual growth during the ten years was greater than during the preceding thirty years. This showing would doubtless be satisfactory if we had not been flattered with assurance that the population, as set forth by the census of 1911, would be in the neighborhood of eight million souls. But, after all, that we have passed the seven million mark is, it must be admitted, a very considerable disappointment. The following table which sets forth the growth of the population of Canada during the last forty years, showing that during that period we have not succeeded in doubling our population:

	1871	1881	1891	1901	1911
Population	3,689,257	4,324,810	4,339,239	5,371,315	7,081,869
Increase for decade		635,553	508,499	638,076	1,710,554

The most satisfactory statistics are those relating to the growth of the four western provinces. Of the total increase during the ten years of 1,710,554, over one million is to be credited to the West. The population of the four western provinces now approximates 25 per cent of the total population of Canada. The growth of the three Prairie Provinces has been particularly gratifying, the figures of the last five census being as follows:

1871, 43,228
1881, 87,775
1891, 219,305
1901, 414,151
1911, 1,281,118

Of these three prairie provinces, Manitoba maintains its leadership by a bare margin of 1,000 extra population, the comparative figures being: Manitoba, 454,691; Saskatchewan, 453,508. During the last ten years the population of Manitoba has increased by 192,480, while Saskatchewan has jumped no less than 362,229. Of the growth in Manitoba, no less than 148,959 is represented by the increase in the population of Winnipeg, St. Boniface, Portage la Prairie and Brandon. The increase in the rural population of the province during the ten years has been about 90,000, as compared with over 300,000 in the adjoining province of Saskatchewan.

The statistics for Eastern Canada cannot be regarded as satisfactory. There is some increase in both Ontario and Quebec, but it is almost entirely in the urban centers. Toronto and Montreal have both grown rapidly, but it is evident that the rural districts have remained stationary where they have not gone backward. From the Maritime provinces comes the same old story of all the preceding census. Prince Edward Island has actually lost 10,000 population; Nova Scotia has remained stationary, and New Brunswick has made but a little gain. Taking the three provinces together, the population during the last ten years has increased by only 12,000 souls, which, of course, represents but a mere fraction of the natural increment. The Maritime Provinces, it is plain, are still being drained of their young people, and it is to be greatly feared that the Canadian West is meeting only a moderate portion of those who find it necessary to leave their homes down by the sea.

Upon the whole, the showing must be said to be below expectations. If it were not for the remarkable achievements of 65 (the fixed representation of that province), is 30,780. On the basis of each of the Canadian Provinces will be as shown in the following table:

Province	Population	Representation
British Columbia	12	7
Alberta	12	7
Saskatchewan	12	7
Manitoba	12	7
Ontario	15	13
Quebec	15	13
New Brunswick	15	13
Nova Scotia	15	13
Prince Edward Island	3	4
Quebec	65	65
Yukon	1	1
Total	231	221

This gives 231 members as contrasted with 221 in the present House—an increase of ten seats. The four Western provinces increase their representation by five members each, while Ontario loses four and the Maritime Provinces six, leaving a net increase of ten.

SMALL FARMS MEAN MORE MIXED FARMING

"Nowhere in my travels have I seen such excellent stock, and land that looked so though it had been cultivated by men who

the West, and the promise that they will give still more rapid growth in the future, the census returns of 1911 would have to be regarded as distinctly disappointing.

TWENTY MORE SEATS FOR THE WEST

The census figures announced from Ottawa a few days ago, make possible a close estimate of the representation in Parliament of the various provinces after the forthcoming redistribution. The unit of representation, obtained by dividing Quebec's population of 2,000,079 by live hogs and packing house of live hogs and packing house of products all of which should be produced at home. The tendency in late years in this section has been towards larger wheat farms, which, no longer means a smaller population. This condition should be changed and the way to do it is to make the farms smaller, so that the owner will be compelled to cultivate all of their holdings every year. Instead of a farmer summer-fallowing half of his land each year, that ground should be planted to field peas or something of that sort and harvested by hogs. By so doing the land would be in better shape for the following crop of wheat or other grain, while the farmer should have earned off each 50 acres between $1,200 and $1,500.

"So great a believer in the advantages of diversified farming of small holdings am I that I would like to see the various communities of the Northwest purchase up all the logged off lands and sell them to actual settlers, in small holdings, to be paid for in installments, extending over 20 to 40 years. If this were done and the present large holdings broken up into smaller farms, the population of this territory would be enormously increased and its prosperity would be greater than seems possible at the present time."

ALBERTA WINS

Exhibits from Alberta's "dry belt" have captured the Grand Challenge Trophy for the second time in succession—at the International Dry Farming Congress, and have also secured a large number of class prizes and awards. In consequence of this, and of the campaign put up by the Southern Alberta towns, with the active assistance of the Provincial Government, the next convention of the Congress is to be held at Lethbridge. People in this part of the country wish it to be distinctly understood that Alberta is not a province in all of which dry farming is necessary. That understood they heartily congratulate the people of the southern portion of the province on having proven that of all the dry farming areas of the continent that of Alberta is the most productive. The holding of the convention at Lethbridge next year will mean much for Alberta, as we should seek to build up a country in which the measure of the Nation's prosperity will be the happiness and comfort of the mass of people, and not the number of its millionaires. Observation shows that wherever and Western States, and through the advertisement, so secured the Province should be made more widely and favorably known in those States. Many of those who come to the convention will later on come to stay, and in the meantime will pass the word along to their neighbors that they may have some attention of all thoughtful men and women. Nowhere else in this world are there so many productive and cheerful homes. No sentiment or envy will withhold from the southern districts of the Province the hearty congratulations of the people of the northern districts on having won so good a name for their section, and on having secured a means which will make the name more widely known than it has been. The more prosperous and populous Southern Alberta becomes, the better for all parts of it.

millionaires flourish, poverty is to be found close by; and it is almost universally true that in the same conditions which have produced the two extremes, the problem of righting this wrong is not one with which we have to deal. The British people have for centuries been fighting a battle for representative government. Their most recent victory is the restriction of the power of the House of Lords, and as the forces of progress secure more power for the common people by the abolition of plural voting, the establishment of manhood suffrage and other similar reforms, the evils of Landlordism will be lessened, they cannot be altogether wiped out. It is for Canada to take warning from the experience of the Motherland, and prevent the course of Landlordism from becoming a burden upon future generations. No man can make an acre of land or a grain of dust, yet no man can live if he is denied the use of land, and no one should be permitted to hold more land than he can use. The ownership of land by idle non-users and speculators is a menace to the future of Canada. One of the most urgent problems which invites the attention of those who desire to lay right foundations for a happy and prosperous Canada is the land question. We believe that the taxation of land values will save Canada from the curse of Landlordism.

HARVEST THANKSGIVING SERVICES

St. Cyprian's Church will hold its Annual Thanksgiving on Sunday next, October 29th. The services will be at 8 a.m. Holy Communion 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.; Children 3 p.m. A special Anthem will be rendered at the evening service, and at all services the popular harvest hymns will be sung. Gifts of sample fruits and vegetables which invite the attention of those who desire to lay right foundations for a happy and prosperous Canada is the land question. We believe that the taxation of land values will save Canada from the curse of Landlordism.

St. J. McLaughlin invites the public to a cup of Kelly's Tea and coffee at his store the week ending Oct. 28th. All ladies are cordially welcome. Don't miss this opportunity to try a good cup of tea.

INTERIOR OF E. TITSWORTH'S FURNITURE STORE

A LESSON FROM ENGLAND many other new countries. Yet there are millions of people in Britain who live on the verge of starvation. And what is the reason of this? Most of the wealth of Great Britain is in the hands of the big landlords. The enormous incomes of the British aristocracy come from their rent rolls. There are two classes who live in extreme poverty in Britain, the "submerged tenth," exist in an environment of hope less degradation and vice in the slums of the great cities, and the agricultural laborers, who toil upon land from childhood to old age, and who become paupers whenever sickness or accident lays them aside. And it is from the rents of these slim dwellers, and the labor of these poor agricultural dwellers, that the landlords of England derive their immense wealth. As science and invention have made the production of wealth easier,
